Carter Takes Oath As 39th President

WASHINGTON (AP) — In soft Georgia accent, uttering the simple oath set out in the Constitution, Jimmy Carter comes to power today to lead the nation into its third century.

That miracle of democracy, the peaceful transfer of government from one party and one president to another, is celebrated once again with prayer and proud pageantry.

The outgoing president, Gerald R. Ford, was to share the pillared platform in front of the Capitol as Carter swore to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

For Carter, it was — as he told his neighbors in Plains, Ga. — "A new day, a new beginning, a new spirit for our country."

For Ford, it was a leave-taking from the government he had served nearly half his 63 years, the last 2½ as a president elected by no one. He had sought today's swearing-in ceremony for himself, but, failing to win election, directed full cooperation to smooth the new administration's way.

In that spirit, the departing 38th president and the incoming 39th paused for coffee in the White House before riding together to the Capitol in a display of unity and continuity.

With them were their wives, each a partner in her husband's success: Rosalynn Carter, who campaigned day after day in Carter's dogged rise from obscurity, and Betty Ford, a first lady of dignity and grace whose popularity rating in polls often rivaled or surpassed her husband's.

And there was another transition as the vice presidency passed from Nelson A. Rockefeller to Walter F. Mondale.

With the oath-taking — Mondale first, then Carter — the nation once more had elected officials at the top.

Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew, who assumed responsibility on this day four years ago, also vowed to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed," but were forced from office for failing to do just that.

Carter's presidency began the instant he placed his left hand on a Bible that had been in his mother's family for 150 years and repeated the 35-word oath prescribed by the Founding Fathers:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

To the end, as a private citizen, he acted as any husband and father. He turned down the thermostat in his home before locking its doors, and he helped carry 9-year-old Amy's doll house to the moving van.

The man who has said he will wear blue jeans and an open shirt in his private time at the White House, donned a tuxedo for a star-filled pre-inauguration gala at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts on Wednesday night.

With Mrs. Carter beside him, Carter held Amy on his lap as they waited for the performance to begin.

Carter has said that Amy, reared in Georgia, has never seen snow. She may get her chance tonight as the Carters make the rounds of seven inaugural balls — a whirlwind not scheduled to end until after 1 a.m.

For Ford, leaving Washington after 25 years as congressman, one as vice president and 2½ as president, the burdens of office give way immediately to the burden of the golf course.

A plane from the presidential fleet waited at Andrews AFB to take him to Monterey, Calif., where he will play in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am on Friday as the partner of Arnold Palmer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a text of President-elect Carter's inaugural address:

For myself and our nation, I want to thank my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land.

In this outward and physical ceremony we attest once again to the inner and spiritual strength of our nation.

As my high school teacher, Miss Julia Coleman, used to say, "We must adjust to changing times and still hold to unchanging principles."

Here before me is the Bible used in the inauguration of our first President in 1789, and I have just taken my own oath of office on the Bible my mother gave me a few years ago, opened to a timeless admonition from the ancient prophet Micah:

"He hath showed thee, o man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." (Micah 6:8)

This inauguration ceremony marks

a new beginning, a new dedication within our government, and a new spirit among us all. A President may sense and proclaim that new spirit, but only a people can provide it.

Two centuries ago our nation's birth was a milestone in the long quest for freedom, but the bold and brilliant dream which excited the founders of our nation still awaits its consummation. I have no new dream to set forth today, but rather urge a fresh

More Snow Facing Ohioans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Already reeling from its worst winter in decades, Ohio braced for more snow today amid rising natural gas and electricity shortages that have shut down many businesses and schools.

The lingering cold has taken a deep bite into the state's economy.

The energy resources committee of the Ohio Manufacturers Association has passed a resolution calling for an immediate investigation of the electrical supply situation by the public utilities commission and the state Energy and Resources Development Agency.

The OMA claims that "many manufacturers in Ohio have been forced to cut back their use of electricity, causing layoffs of tens of thousands of Ohio workers."

After meeting with officials of East Ohio Gas Co., Summit County school officials "reluctantly" agreed to keep schools closed for the rest of the week.

They asked however for documentation that a gas problem exists in the area.

"Some have never believed that a gas supply problem exists," said an East Ohio Co. spokesman.

The problem became more real Wednesday for commercial customers of Dayton Power & Light Co.

DP&L announced that it was terminating natural gas service for any commercial customers which exceeded allowable winter usage levels. About 2,000 of the utility's 16,000 commercial customers would be immediately affected, and more would fall under the new plan once they surpassed 50 per cent of their 1972 base levels.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. blamed the frozen conditions of the Ohio River with preventing heating oil from reaching any of its customers.

"Another week to 10 days of continued abnormally cold weather is likely to result in critical oil supply problems," a utility spokesman said.

Temperatures in the teens alleviated electricity burdens on utilities in Cincinnati and Dayton.

Schools closed for the week in Cincinnati, further easing the burden there, and most schools were also closed in Dayton.

In Cleveland, schools were reporting plans to shut down for the remainder of the week, although Columbus public and private schools opened Wednesday as did Ohio State University.

Kent State University's main campus plans to reopen today, but with thermostats set between 50 and 55 degrees.

Columbus has resumed trash pickup after a week of no trash collection.

Arthur Schuck, superintendent of waste collection in Cincinnati, said the city won't be able to catch up on all its waste collection until the weather thaws.

Despite a letup in subzero temperatures, the current cold spell is putting mounting strain on generating

Oddities Mark Winter Onslaught

The gas-heated swimming pool at Friendly House in Mansfield is open, but Bennett's Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor in Washington Court House closed.

A car left idling to warm up suddenly became a hot item and a Columbus judge was victimized by a sled.

An Associated Press survey shows that your neighbors are facing some unusual problems during Ohio's worst winter this century.

Larry and Pat Bennett advertised in Washington Court House that inclement weather caused them to close their ice cream store. They said they plan to reopen in February.

Dayna Parks, 19, told Columbus police she started her car engine while visiting a friend and went back inside until it warmed up. The friend looked out five minutes later, she said, and the car had been stolen.

Judge William Boyland of Franklin County Municipal Court judged a sledding contest last week in Columbus, then went home to try some of the feats he had observed. He sustained a broken shoulder blade and collarbone when his sled hit a tree behind his house.

Bernard Dillon, director of Friendly House at Mansfield, said the youth agency will maintain the heated swimming pool because the house is holding gas usage below its allotment.

Margaretta Local Schools in Castalia closed the system's swimming pool and turned off hot water to rest rooms and locker rooms in a fuel conservation measure.

Cecil Sisler Jr., of Hanging Rock, west of Ironton, thought ice was solid enough so he drove his pickup truck out on a pond. He was wrong. Sisler got out safely and hopes to free his truck when the pond thaws. Meanwhile, he can see the top of the cab protruding through the ice.

Dayton citizens gave temporary shelter to more than 100 dogs from the Montgomery County Animal Shelter after four dogs froze to death there. Dog Warden James Brown ordered a portable heating system for the kennel after temperatures in the shelter fell below zero.

Canal Winchester public school officials moved spring vacation from April 11-15 to Feb. 21-25 to conserve heating fuel.

Deep snow caused problems for an emergency rescue squad in Greenfield when it went to aid Robert Hester who was injured in a tractor accident. The squad had to order a snow plow to clear rural roads and the ambulance followed it 17 miles to a Washington Court House hospital.

Ironton City Council last week authorized City Manager Larry Wolke to put city workers on a four-day week with 10-hour days to conserve fuel.

Ray Holder, official weather reporter at Pandora in Putnam County, said snow was too deep to get to his instruments a halfmile from his rural home.

Butler County officials found some merit to snow pushed alongside roads by plows. They noted cars which skid into snow banks are not as likely to be seriously damaged as they might be by hitting more substantial barriers.

Middletown officials closed ice skating on Smith Pond because they could not keep snow cleared from the surface.

Lake County Health Commissioner Fred C. Kluth had a few words of caution for anyone who takes a drink of whiskey to keep warm.

"It works the other way around," Dr. Kluth said. "It makes them feel warm but it actually cools the body off."

And, in Akron, travel agencies and airlines report people are migrating to the sunny south at the rate of 200 a day. But record low temperatures have found their way south, too.

Pickaway Terrace Views Senior Housing Plans

Pickaway Terrace Inc., the non-profit organization for senior citizen housing, held its annual meeting Wednesday at the L-K Restaurant and viewed plans for the proposed housing complex.

The senior citizen housing and the senior citizen center are to be located in Logan Elm Village. Architects Doug Weatherby of Weatherby and Goodman, the consultants for the center, and Gene Milhoan of The Milhoan Partnership, the designers of the housing were present.

They showed their preliminary drawings of the buildings to members of Pickaway Terrace.

A $220,000 federal grant has been approved for the senior citizen center. Pickaway Terrace Inc. will finance construction of the housing complex with a $963,500 FHA loan. The interest rate will be 8 per cent. The housing is for senior citizens and the rent will be federally subsidized depending upon the income of the renters. Maximum rent for those financially able to pay will be $229 per month for a single bedroom unit and $254 a month for a 2-bedroom unit. However the federal subsidy will enable people who have only social security for income to live in the apartments.

Present plans call for 60 units to be constructed — 20 2-bedroom apartments and 40 1-bedroom apartments. Four of the 1-bedroom apartments and two of the 2-bedroom apartments will be designed for handicapped persons confined to wheelchairs.

Guy Leatherwood, president of Pickaway Terrace, reported that they are considering employing National Church Residences, a professional management firm, to oversee the complex maintenance and rental when it is completed.

In other action Wednesday, Fred Howell, chairman of the nominating committee, presented Charles Nelson, Randolph Wolfe and Dick Tootle for trustees for three year terms. The three were elected by unanimous acclamation.

Vera Saunders, secretary, read the loan agreement.

Annual Chamber Of Commerce Dinner Hosts 325 People

WELCOMING SPEAKER — The Rev. Melvin Maxwell and Larry Plum, to the left, and Steve Stevenson, 1977 president, give a hearty welcome to the speaker of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce's Annual Dinner. The Rev. Phillip C. Philbrook warmed the audience with his humorous stories about life.

By ANDI PORTER
Herald Staff Writer

Close to 325 people attended the Annual Chamber of Commerce Dinner held at the 4-H and Grange Building Wednesday evening. These Circleville Area Chamber members and friends met the 1977 board members, recognized the outgoing members and heard a humorous talk by the guest speaker.

After an invocation by the Rev. Melvin Maxwell and a turkey dinner served by the Hedges Chapter, spokesman John Leist introduced the outgoing president, Larry Plum. During the conclusion dinner of the 60th year of the chamber, Plum said a highlight of the evening was having the first president's daughter present for the dinner. He introduced Mrs. Ruth Athey, daughter of John Hummel.

He was pleased with the chamber's accomplishments during the past year. Plum said that committee chairmen finished up various old projects as well as making internal changes on the local chamber's structure.

Each year, five directors finish their three-year term on the chamber board, and are replaced with new directors. The persons entering the chamber this year are Dorwin Hay, Bonnie Hildenbrand, James Hill, Bill Stout and George (Bud) Hritz.

Plum then turned the leadership of the chamber over to this year's president, H. N. (Steve) Stevenson Jr. The new president recognized Jim Hill as the vice president of the chamber. Stevenson said it is an important position because Hill will take over the presidency in 1978. He then presented a plaque to Plum for his presidential year in the chamber.

Since he joined the chamber, Stevenson said he noticed how the organization is "working for the welfare, progress and growth of Pickaway." His advice to the present members is to support and get actively involved with the activities of the chamber because "Circleville is a collective responsibility."

The Rev. Phillip C. Philbrook, speaker of the evening, was then introduced to the annual dinner guests. The Reverend began the evening by circling around the world, with jokes about every area. He then centered jokes on local people in the community, which brought welcome laughter from the audience.

The humorous philosopher interlarded a message with his jokes about doing more than "just enough to get by." He ended the speech with, "what a man does for himself dies with him, and what he does for his community lives on forever."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened higher Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 2.41 to 971.08, and advances led declines by about 2-1.

Some early prices included Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 at 39 3/4; General Motors, up 1/4 to 75 1/4; Bulova Watch, off 1/4 to 7 3/4; and Cessna, up 1/4 to 29 3/4.

The Presidential inauguration of Jimmy Carter should provide no surprises for Wall Street today, analysts say, but there might be some optimism for the basic act of change in the White House administration.

Stocks rose Wednesday on a news that inflation, in the form of a 4.8 per cent annual rise in consumer prices last year, rose by the smallest amount in four years.

The Dow Jones average on Wednesday gained 6.24 to 968.67.

Advances outnumbered declines by a 2-1 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was up .32 at 56.36.

Big Board volume reached 27.12 million shares, up from 24.38 million Tuesday and the heaviest total in five weeks.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index climbed .30 to 111.42.

faith in the old dream. Ours was the first society openly to define itself in terms of both spirituality and of human liberty. It is that unique self-definition which has given us an exceptional appeal — but it also imposes on us a special obligation — to take on those moral duties which, when assumed, seem invariably to be in our own best interests.

You have given me a great responsibility — to stay close to you, to be worthy of you, and to exemplify what you are. Let us create together a new national spirit of unity and trust. Your strength can compensate for my weakness, and your wisdom can help to minimize my mistakes.

Let us learn together and laugh together and work together and pray together, confident that in the end we will triumph together in the right.

The American dream endures. We must once again have full faith in our country — and in one another. I believe America can be better. We can be stronger than before.

Let our recent mistakes bring a resolute commitment to the basic principles of our nation, for we know that if we despise our own government we have no future. We recall in special times when we have stood briefly, but magnificently, united; in those times no prize was beyond our grasp.

But we cannot dwell upon remembered glory. We cannot afford to drift. We reject the prospect of failure or mediocrity or an inferior quality of life for any person.

Our government must at the same time be both competent and compassionate. We have already found a high degree of personal liberty, and we are now struggling to enhance equality of opportunity. Our commitment to human rights must be absolute, our laws fair, our natural beauty preserved; the powerful must not persecute the weak, and human dignity must be enhanced.

We have learned that "more" is not necessarily "better," that even our great nation has its recognized limits, and that we can neither answer all questions nor solve all problems. We cannot afford to do everything, nor can we afford to lack boldness as we meet the future. So together, in a spirit of individual sacrifice for the common good, we must simply do our best. Our nation can be strong abroad only if it is strong at home, and we know that the best way to enhance freedom in other lands is to demonstrate here that our democratic system is worthy of emulation.

To be true to ourselves, we must be true to others. We will not behave in foreign places so as to violate our rules and standards here at home, for we know that the trust which our nation earns is essential to its strength. The world itself is now dominated by a new spirit. Peoples more numerous and more politically aware are craving and now demanding their place in the sun — not just for the benefit of their own physical condition, but for basic human rights.

The passion for freedom is on the plants, gas pipelines and water traffic in the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Hundreds of thousands of workers and school children were staying home as factories and schools remained closed to conserve fuel.

Oranges froze on trees in Florida and fishermen were kept off the frozen Chesapeake Bay. A 160-mile stretch of the frozen northern Mississippi River was officially closed, stranding hundreds of barges and towboats — many of them carrying fuel supplies.

Temperatures were still cold throughout the region, with little change expected today.

In Miami, snow flurries fell Wednesday for the first time since the National Weather Service began keeping records in the 1880s. The afternoon high was a chilly 47 degrees — the lowest recorded high temperature ever there.

In North Dakota, they were calling the 20- and 30-degree readings a January thaw after the extreme cold earlier in the week. The higher readings, however, posed a new problem.

"A marked increase in the cases of the common cold and other illnesses have been noted to correspond with warm periods during the cold season," weathermen at Bismarck warned.

The common cold was not worrying officials in at least 21 states. They were concerned with "energy emergencies" — shortages, near-shortages, or severe strain on power plants or pipelines that carry natural gas to residences, businesses and industrial plants.

Warnings were phrased variously, but the message was the same: Conserve.

Electric power customers in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and parts of Missouri were told Wednesday to conserve or face "periodic interruption of electric service" during peak demand daytime hours. The warning came from Middle South Utilities Co., a distribution system for power companies in the four-state area.

There were disruptions to businessmen and farmers:

—The 7,300 persons who make their living harvesting clams, oysters and fish from Chesapeake Bay have suffered losses of $20 million, said Mary-rise. Tapping this new spirit, there can be no nobler nor more ambitious task for America to undertake on this day of a new beginning than to help shape a just and peaceful world that is truly humane.

We are a strong nation and we will maintain strength so sufficient that it need not be proven in combat — a quiet strength based not merely on the size of an arsenal, but on the nobility of ideas.

We will be ever vigilant and never vulnerable, and we will fight our wars against poverty, ignorance and injustice, for those are the enemies against which our forces can be honorably marshalled.

We are a proud idealistic nation, but let no one confuse our idealism with weakness.

Because we are free we can never be indifferent to the fate of freedom elsewhere. Our moral sense dictates a clearcut preference for those societies which share with us an abiding respect for individual human rights. We do not seek to intimidate, but it is clear that a world which others can dominate with impunity would be inhospitable to decency and a threat to the well-being of all people.

The world is still engaged in a massive armaments race designed to equivalent strength among potential adversaries. We pledge perseverance and wisdom in our efforts to limit the world's armaments to those necessary for each nation's own domestic safety. We will move this year a step toward our ultimate goal — the elimination of all nuclear weapons from this earth.

We urge all other people to join us, for success can mean life instead of death.

Within us, the people of the United States, there is evident a serious and purposeful rekindling of confidence, and I join in the hope that when my time as your President has ended, people might say this about our nation: That we had remembered the words of Micah and renewed our search for humility, mercy and justice;

That we had torn down the barriers that separated those of different race and region and religion, and where there had been mistrust, built unity, with a respect for diversity;

That we had found productive work for those able to perform it;

That we had strengthened the American family, which is the basis of our society;

That we had ensured respect for the law, and equal treatment under the law, for the weak and the powerful, the rich and the poor;

And that we had enabled our people to be proud of their own government once again.

I would hope that the nations of the world might say that we had built a lasting peace, based not on weapons of war but on international policies which reflect our own most precious values.

These are not just my goals, but our common hopes. And they will not be my accomplishments, but the affirmation of our nation's continuing moral strength and our belief in an undiminished, ever-expanding American dream.

It said Wednesday that the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp. would be allowed to tap a reserve supply of 3 billion cubic feet over the next 60 days. Army Finds Dead Officer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Soldiers have found the body of a Ranger trainee who became separated from his platoon in Florida during heavy rains Thursday, U.S. Army officials said Sunday.

Lt. Gary L. Mielke, 23, of Paulding, Ohio, was found Sunday between the Yellow River and Bailey Creek in the Florida Panhandle, officials said.

He was part of a training platoon which was undergoing jungle-swamp training near Camp Rudder, Fla., officials at Ft. Benning said. The platoon was headquartered at Ft. Benning during training exercises in Georgia and Florida.

Mielke and a Nicaraguan officer died when the platoon separated during a torrential rainstorm, officials said. The Nicaraguan, whose name was not released, was found immediately, and Mielke was reported missing.

Officials at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., said the two died of apparent overexposure.

Five other members of the platoon were hospitalized.

The Army is investigating the incident, officials said.

7 Sailors Die In Ship Sinking

MIAMI (AP) — Seven sailors were killed and 13 others were missing today after a Panamanian cargo ship sank in the Gulf of Mexico in heavy seas.

The captain, Alejandro Felix, and two crewmen of the 410-foot Ukola survived, the Coast Guard said.

The Ukola, carrying bulk sugar from the Dominican Republic to Galveston, Tex., sank Wednesday about 200 miles northwest of Key West in seas up to 12 feet high and winds up to 35 knots.

Felix, picked up by the Coast Guard, was treated at a St. Petersburg hospital and released. The crewmen were rescued separately by other ships.

FEA Has Grim Energy Outlook For New Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration is greeting incoming President Carter with a grim forecast of tight energy supplies and rising prices for years to come.

In a report issued Wednesday, the energy agency predicted a near doubling of residential fuel costs by 1985 as a result of inflation and real energy cost increases.

The outlook beyond that may be even worse, the report warned.

The FEA says the world's demand for oil will bump up against the limits of its production capacity in the mid or late 1980s. That supply-demand collision is likely to spark even steeper price increases.

The report's relatively good news was that U.S. energy demand was expected to increase more slowly than previously predicted, a trend that will make it easier to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil.

Compared with a historic growth rate of about 3.3 per cent a year before the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo, U.S. energy consumption was predicted to rise at about 2.5 per cent a year, slightly lower than last year's 2.8 per cent forecast.

The FEA said the slower growth is due to the combination of energy conservation measures and fuel price increases.

John Christie, assistant administrator for energy information and analysis, said in an interview that the FEA is assuming continued inflation ranging from last year's 5.6 per cent down to 4 per cent by 1985, forcing energy prices up a total of 58.4 per cent by then.

Regardless of inflation, the FEA estimated, residential energy prices will reflect annual real cost increases of about 3 per cent if imported oil prices rise by 2 per cent. That alone would cause the 1976 residential energy bill to grow more than 30 per cent by 1985.

Taken together, inflation and real cost increases may add nearly 89 per cent by 1985 to the size of the residential energy bill — including purchase of natural gas, fuel oil, electricity and motor gasoline.

If Congress ends regulation of interstate natural gas prices, the FEA said, the cost of residential gas may reach some 37.5 per cent higher by 1985 than if regulation at present rates continued.

More realistically, even regulated rates would probably increase. The Federal Power Commission has a policy of reviewing them every two years and adopted substantial increases just last year.

Either way, said Christie, householders using natural gas for heating, hot water, cooking, or air conditioning will take the brunt of natural gas price hikes.

Looking further into the future, the FEA said that "by the mid-to-late-1980's projected world demand for oil could approximately equal the world's production capacity, and produce pressures for increases in world oil prices."

Kite-Flying Nuts Gather In Florida

LIDO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The news was unusually weighty and profound this week. Some people, however, in this great disorganized land, gave their attention to lighter matters.

Kites.

With airy disregard of the inauguration, the execution, the budget, the weather and all other cares of the moment, a swarm of kite nuts, summoned hither by Will Yolen, the world champion flier of kites, arrived with chins up.

They found a cobalt blue sky above a whitewashed beach beside the calm green water of the Gulf of Mexico and were united in purpose.

Their aim was to decorate that gorgeous sky with kites. Success was rampant.

The Harrison Township Emergency Squad made the following runs this past week; Jan. 10, transported Kathy Zills, 5015 Walnut Street, South Bloomfield, to Berger Hospital, illness; transported Vickie Redman, Route 1, to Berger Hospital, illness; Jan. 12, transported Ann Gozaes, Lockbourne Lodge, to Berger Hospital, illness; Robert Johnson, Route 1, to Mercy Hospital, legs caught in insulage auger; Jan. 14, transported Marita Myers, 2240 Hall Street, to Berger Hospital, illness; assisted George Cummins, 214 Powell Street, difficulty in breathing; transported Charles Smith, 16195 Winchester Road, to Berger Hospital, possible fractured leg; Jan. 15, called to home of Mrs. Carrie Barch, Duval Road, DOA; Jan. 16, transported Robert Patrick, Route 2, to Berger Hospital, illness.

The Volunteer Firemen answered the following calls; Jan. 12, working fire in trailer home of David Campbell, Lot D-14, Poplar Grove Trailer Court, damage estimated at $15,500; Jan. 13, fire in trash can at Robert Sliwinski home at 11820 Circleville Avenue, no damage; rekindle of insulation in David Campbell trailer at Poplar Grove Trailer Court, no additional damage; Jan. 16, fire in basement of Leroy Clark home at 17367 U.S. Route 23, Little Walnut, damage estimated at $10,000.

Firemen warned all residents to be extremely careful with fireplaces and to check carefully all other heating equipment. Report all fires immediately before making any attempt to extinguish them. Delays in reporting fires this type of weather makes the fire department's job doubly hard.

Never hesitate to call 474-2176 and report any suspected fire.

Mrs. Med Eccard wishes to thank everyone for all the cards, flowers, gifts, visits, prayers and get-well wishes she received while in Mt. Carmel Hospital. A special thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. John Currans for their many visits and prayers. Mr. and Mrs. Eccard also wish to thank their neighbors for the lovely flowers sent at the time of the death of his father, John Eccard. Everything has been deeply appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Dixon announce the birth of a daughter, Tammy Jo, Jan. 11. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blanton and Mrs. Maxine Dixon.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters will meet in the home of Helen Kuhlwein on Thursday, Jan. 27. Also serving on the committee are Mildred Kuhn, Marge Baum and Judy Campbell. All Past Chiefs and Officers of the Temple are invited to attend.

A carry-in dinner will be held in the Village United Methodist Church on Monday evening, January 24, at 6:30 p.m. This dinner is for the congregations of both the Hedges Chapel and Village Churches.

Presenting the program will be the Rev. Al Leggett and Mary Martin of Columbus. The event will also mark the birthday of the Rev. Starling Morrow.

Mrs. Ray (Lucy) Williams returned home last Monday from Berger

Hospital where she had been a surgical patient. She would like to thank all those who remembered her with cards and flowers while she was hospitalized and since she has returned home.

The United Methodist Women of The Village Church met in the Ashville Coffee Shop last Thursday evening for the monthly meeting. Helen Toole, presided during the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Velma Purcell. The report of the treasury was given by Carolyn Lutz.

A discussion was held concerning the programs for the coming months at the meetings. The group voted to replace the velvet curtain on the altar of the church sanctuary and to purchase new collars for the choir robes. These collars to coincide with the altar cloths, different colors for the different seasons of the year.

Mildred Fullen gave a report on the Christmas baskets given to shut-ins. Several thank-you notes were received for the baskets. Arlene Gregory, Velma Purcell, Charlotte Rife and Carolyn Lutz volunteered to furnish coffee, cookies and doughnuts for the social hour following the worship service on Sunday morning.

Those attending and enjoying the evening of fellowship were Helen Toole, Mona Morrison, Louise Morrow, Velma Purcell, Lou Deal, Arlene Gregory, Marian Hinkle, Virgie Vause, Marge Wilson, Carolyn Lutz, Trudie Nelson, Mildred Fullen, Elizabeth Beatty, Stella Morrison, Ethel Siegle, Teresa Gebhardt, Charlotte Rife, Rosemary Glick, Shirley Rathburn and Marilyn Sabine.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hickman, Mrs. Mary Helen Bandy and Miss Ginny Rainey arrived home Monday morning after vacationing in Hawaii for a week. They represented the Ashville Cardinal Market while there.

The group reported that as they boarded the plane in Hawaii for the trip home it was 81 degrees and when they arrived in Columbus they were greeted with 19 below zero weather. Quite a change to say the least!

Due to the weather conditions the Installation of Officers to be held this week at the Pythian Sister meeting was postponed until Feb. 1.

Miami Prof Awarded Appointment

Dr. Jay W. Baird, professor of history at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, is among 19 faculty members awarded 1977 Miami Summer Research Appointments in an annual Miami program intended to encourage scholarly work free of teaching or administration commitments for a full summer.

Dr. Baird is a son of Mrs. Warren Baird, 6529 Abbey Run, Sylvania, and is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Eshelman, 484 North Pickaway St.

A member of Miami's faculty since 1967, Dr. Baird received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Denison University in 1958; the Master of Arts degree from Columbia University in 1960, and the Ph. D. degree from Columbia in 1966.

He was selected for a Summer Research Appointment on the basis of his proposal for continued research on a book, Swastika or Red Star: The Battle for Germany 1918-1933.

His own statement of his project follows: "I will use the grant to continue research on a book entitled 'Swastika or Red Star: The Battle for Germany 1918-1933.' With special attention given to the propaganda of both the Nazi and the communists on the Weimar Republic, I will be working mostly with the captured German documents of this period, as well as with the documentary and feature films available. I will supplement this research with a trip to Germany to interview some of the remaining figures among the Nazis and communists who fought the political campaigns and battles for the streets which characterized the years before Hitler's takeover of Germany. Hopefully this work will result in a book of both scholarly and popular appeal in the next few years."

Improving Tanker Safety

More than 5,000 tankers are at work carrying oil to and from all parts of the world. As dependence upon a handful of producers continues to grow, so will the tanker fleet.

Coincidence or not, the rash of tanker accidents in the last month has brought clearly into focus a main consequence of moving so much oil by water.

Accidents will continue to occur on the seas, and will involve tankers as well as other ships. But there is a difference between an accident no reasonable precaution can prevent and the kind of accident which has been occurring all too frequently, especially in or near U.S. coastal waters.

Pressured by the force of recent events, Congress is taking a new look at maritime policies and safeguards. In one form or another, it is all but certain the results will be new and tougher regulations involving merchant ships entering U.S. ports.

Reducing the epidemic of tanker spills, groundings and collisions is essential; trying to eliminate tanker accidents completely is impossible.

Jimmy Loves Rosalynn

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — During their brief courtship, Rosalynn and Jimmy Carter signed their letters to one another with the letters I.L.Y.T.G.

Rosalynn told me about this acronym a few months ago, and then she said - quite typically of this strong, yet totally female woman - "Oh, I shouldn't have said anything about that. Because now I can't tell you what it means. Not unless Jimmy decides we should reveal it. It's sort of a family secret. Only Jimmy and I and the children are in on it."

You can go balm trying to interpret other peoples' romantic cryptography, and I did. Obviously, the I.L.Y. must mean "I Love You" - but the T.G.? Given the Carters' religious bent, the first thought that comes to mind is "Thank God," but it didn't ring a reasonable bell.

Since Rosalynn had turned down Jimmy's first marriage proposal, because she thought she might prefer a career before marriage, my son suggested the letters could mean "I Love You Touch and Go."

Cued in to the mystery of the Carter Code, the editor of Good Housekeeping astounded President-elect Jimmy at a meeting of Hearst newspaper and magazine executives by asking, "By the way, can you tell us what I.L.Y.T.G. mean?"

It took Jimmy by surprise. He blushed. He looked at G.H. editor John Mack Carter with amazement, followed quickly by amusement, and then in keeping with the spirit of open government, he replied, "Sure, I means 'I Love You The Goodest.'"

Now, there are some Americans, particularly Republicans, who will question the grammar of the Carter slogan, and there are others who may consider it a bad case of the "Carter Cutes." Personally, I think it's lovely. Only in young love between sentimental people can such sweet silliness be exchanged. And sentiment in the White House is always in the public interest.

The fashion industry is not too pleased with Rosalynn Carter's sentimental - and practical - plan to wear her six-year-old blue chiffon gown to the Inaugural Ball. It's the same dress that made its debut when she celebrated her husband's inauguration as Governor of Georgia, and she loves it ... not only because of its connotations of a first political success, but because "it's just pretty." Acknowledging the fear of Seventh Avenue, that a First Lady wearing a "used garment" for such a significant event could start an economically painful trend in the dress business, Mrs. Carter has bought a new blue cape to cover her old blue gown.

Still, the fashion designers are less than ecstatic. Rosalynn Carter, with her tiny figure and pretty face, could have given what they consider to be a necessary boost in fashion interest by following the lead of Jacqueline Kennedy - the last clothes-model-oriented First Lady to give them a shot-in-the-exchequer.

They still remember Jackie, who scared them to death before she brought them to life. Remember the old pre-inauguration joke?

Interviewer: "What did you buy in Paris, Jackie?"

Jackie: "A Dior, a Balenciaga and a Givenchy."

Interviewer: "Oh - could we get a look at them?"

Jackie: "I'm afraid not. They're upstairs designing my clothes."

That's the way it was at the beginning, but after the First Lady Kennedy saw the political light, she made U.S. fashion into a big business the likes of which it has not been since she left the White House posture of incredible influence. Designers and American women were equally sheepish in following her lead, and when Jackie decided to wear her skirts short, she succeeded in exposing knobby knees across the land. From her bouffant hairdo and pillbox hat to her low-heeled patent leather pumps, Jacqueline Kennedy spent a small fortune to make a large fortune for the U.S. dress and millinery and shoe industries.

Profits were never the same after she left Washington. Lady Bird Johnson was for beautification of the country, but not concerned with beautification of the American clotheshorse. Pat Nixon clung to her cloth coat image. Betty Ford was more interested in Jerry and the kids than promoting her personal appearance as a fashion plate.

When Rosalynn Carter's husband was elected, it was a new ball game - and the new ball gown would be the cue to which designer she favored. Alas for the couture, she favored the old blue chiffon with its sentimental nostalgia. It could have been worse.

In our interview, shortly before her husband's nomination, Rosalynn Carter said that when Jimmy was elected (she never said 'if'), she would wear the gown from the Atlanta inauguration "unless," she said, "I find the time to make myself a new one."

"I probably won't have the time," she smiled shyly, "but I'm certainly going to take my sewing machine with me" to Washington ...

Well, the First Lady can't promote everything. This one apparently can mainly promote thrift, home-sewing, patterns and the sweet reasonableness of dressing with love, rather than for show.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like many items sold through the mail, most municipal bond funds can honestly promise no salesman will ever ring your doorbell. Many of them haven't got salesmen of the kind who appear in person.

Instead, they receive orders from individuals acting on their own initiative, but motivated by advertisements and other promotions that rely heavily on the message that, like the rich, you too can earn tax-free income.

The interested person often responds by calling a toll-free number or writing a letter, receiving in return a packet of information that includes a prospectus, descriptive literature and an application form.

Almost certainly there also will be included a chart comparing tax-exempt income and taxable income, beginning perhaps with the 31 per cent tax bracket, which applies to a single return on taxable income of $14,000.

In that bracket, a 5 per cent municipal bond — a bond issued perhaps by a town or school district or a public authority — provides income equal to that of another bond yielding 7.25 per cent on which a tax payment is required.

Mutual funds bought through the mail or by telephone are called "no-load" funds, meaning they are sold without payment of a sales charge. But there are load funds also, sold by brokers or a fund's own sales staff.

A big difference between the load and no-load funds is the sales or commission charge, which may amount to 4.75 per cent on orders of less than $25,000. For a $10,000 order, therefore, a customer pays a one-time charge of $475.

Upon learning this, many customers suddenly become aware that in the first year their earnings won't be what the charter indicates, but instead will be the interest minus commission. A pretax yield of 5.75 per cent would become just 1 per cent.

Again, not all munifunds, as they are sometimes called, have sales charges, but all have annual management fees, at present generally from four-tenths of 1 per cent to six-tenths of 1 per cent of a person's share value.

A fund that earns 5.5 per cent would be reduced by the amount of that fee, in the instance cited from 5.75 per cent to 5.35 or 5.15 per cent, depending upon whether the fee is four-tenths or six-tenths.

Still, the returns can be highly attractive for some investors, especially those in the higher tax brackets. A couple in a 55 per cent bracket — $64,000-$76,000 — can earn the equivalent of 11.11 per cent on a net 5 per cent yield.

Such well-off individuals can, however, purchase individual bonds of their own choosing, and enough of them to obtain the security of diversification. They may not need a mutual fund. Many of the ads therefore are aimed at smaller investors.

An individual may open an account with $1,000 or even less in many of the funds, and thereafter can add to holdings in amounts of $100 or more. And he or she can redeem shares at net asset value.

Convenience is a big selling point. One fund proclaims "You will avoid the unpleasant details of direct ownership of municipal bonds. Details like coupon clipping, safekeeping, watching the calendar for maturities."

Continuous professional management is stressed. Municipal issues for the funds will be "carefully and continuously analyzed," and alternative investments will be "constantly monitored" in an effort to increase the return.

On some of these points there is little dispute. But the claims of professional management especially are being examined critically by some people in the securities industry.

Some of these critics maintain that without a record of success in trading a portfolio of municipal securities, some fund managers may be offering a bit more than they can accomplish, a bit less than buyers expect.

Mr. M. W. A., Tex.

When the abnormal rate of the heart beat, or tachycardia, begins, drugs are the usual way of interrupting this abnormality.

Very recently, Dr. Marvin A. Wayne, of St. Luke's Hospital in Bellingham, Wash., tried the cold water method you mention for breaking the rapid heart beat.

"The patient is placed in a prone position (face down) above a pan of water chilled to 10 degrees Centigrade. The patient's face is immersed in the cold water until the heart beat returns to normal, or until the patient voluntarily picks his head up to breathe." This method of treatment has been tried in emergency rooms and seems to be very effective.

Dear Mr. A.:

CLOSE DANGEROUS ENTRANCE — Pickaway County Commissioners have temporarily closed the dangerous Pickaway St. entrance to the Pickaway County District Public Library. Water which dripped from the roof has frozen on the steps and sidewalk, making them almost impassable. And, don't forget those dagger-like icicles formed along the gutter line. Patrons may use the Main St. entrance, according to Fritz Cox of the Library staff, who said it's a little cooler and dimmer in the building, but circulation of books has apparently not been affected by the cold weather.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My daughter always becomes tense and anxious before a school examination. She is 16 years old. She tells me that she gets dizzy and breathless and feels as if she's going to faint. Is this common in young people?

Mrs. E. Y., Nev.

Dear Mrs. Y.:

Many young people become extremely anxious during these stressful times. I've known a few adolescents who develop shortness of breath, dizziness, light-headedness and nausea around exam time.

It has been found that many of these young people tend to overbreathe, or "hyperventilate," when they become anxious and upset. Almost invariably, when any of these symptoms occur, the hyperventilation increases and the symptoms are magnified.

This is a possibility that should be considered and brought to the attention of your daughter's doctor. If it does exist, then psychological counseling and reassurance would be of great benefit to her.

Fear of examinations should be respected. It often devitalizes a youngster and interferes with the capacity to function at a normal level.

About three times a year I get an attack of tachycardia. My heart seems to be running away with itself. It beats like a triphammer. I have a drug for this, but it's never there when I need it. Someone told me about a cold water method that stops it immediately. Do you know about his?

Child Care Expense Credit More Liberal

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the fourth in a series of five articles entitled "Coping with Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1976 tax returns.

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are over 65, or use child day-care services, or are accustomed to a tax break for sick pay, you'll find major changes in figuring your federal income tax this year.

Millions of working parents will profit from a new, more liberal tax credit for babysitting expenses. The elderly have a liberalized, far simpler credit of their own. But sick pay is out unless you are totally and permanently disabled.

To take advantage of any of these tax breaks you must use Form 1040 — the long form — plus supplemental forms: 2441 for child care, 2440 for disability income and Schedule R for the elderly credit.

One of the most significant changes approved by Congress in the 1976 Tax Reform Act allows you to get the credit for child care expenses without itemizing deductions. And you'll find the credit considerably easier to compute than was the old deduction.

The law allows you a tax credit — which is subtracted directly from taxes owed — of up to $400 a year for the care of one dependent while you work and up to $800 for the care of two or more. The credit is computed by multiplying 20 per cent by the eligible expenses, up to $2,000 for one child and $4,000 for two or more.

For the first time a married couple may take advantage of the tax break even if one spouse works only part-time or is a student. And the credit is available to a divorced or separated parent who has custody of a child.

There's another significant change. You now may qualify for the child-care credit even if you pay a relative to babysit while you work and even if he or she lives in your home. But the relative's pay in such a case must be subject to Social Security taxes.

The replacement for the old sick-pay exemption allows a person under 65 who had to retire early because of a permanent, total disability to exempt from taxation up to $5,200 a year. The exemption is reduced as income rises above $15,000.

The retirement-income credit, which was so complicated that many elderly persons neglected to claim it, has been made more generous and simplified to the point that it can be figured on the eight-line Schedule R.

If you are single and 65 or older, you may exempt from taxation 15 per cent of the first $2,500 ($375) of ANY income — not just retirement income as in the past. For couples over 65, the exemption is 15 per cent of the first $3,750, or $563.

The amount of income to which the credit is applied must be reduced by Social Security payments and by one-half of adjusted gross income above $7,500 for single persons and above $10,000 for couples.

NEXT: Some reminders.

INAUGURAL DESIGN FOR ROSALYNN CARTER — During inaugural week, one of the outfits that Rosalynn Carter will wear is this coat and matching dress designed by Jerry Silverman. At left, an almond green ultrasuede coat, to be worn with or without the self-tie belt; the matching shirtdress of French sheer wool, right, has an empire waist, long sleeves, and is scarfed at the neck.

Laurelville News

By CELESTA HOY
332-3251

The women of the Church of God met at the church on last Thursday evening with Mrs. Lynn Summers presiding. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Donald Hardman. The Prayer a Day, Penny a Day project envelopes were distributed to the members. The Christ birthday offering for the year was $475. Eight new tables have been bought for the Sunday School rooms and a new file cabinet was bought for missionary supplies. $240 was paid for the rent of the Laurelville School Gym for basketball games. The Sweetheart banquet for the youth was discussed. Margie Ebert offered prayer before the election of officers. New officers for the year are Mrs. Lenny Hardman, president; Mrs. Robert Reid, director of Stewardship; Mrs. Larry Smith, historian; Evelyn Boyd, parliamentarian; all other officers were retained for another year. Mrs. Donald Hardman offered prayer for the sick and other prayer requests. Mrs. Ebert gave the devotions from II Corinthians, 10-14 verses and her topic was "How Far Can You Reach?" A delayed Christmas gift exchange was held among the secret pals and new names drawn for the coming year. Refreshments were served to 23 members and one guest, Barbara Henson.

The Ladies Auxillary of the Volunteer Fire Department held it's regular meeting on Jan. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the fire house. Six members were present. The ladies decided it is necessary to have two meetings each month, the second and fourth Tuesdays. The next meeting will be Jan. 25. The group will sponsor a bake sale Jan. 22 inside White's Hardware, starting at 9:00 a.m. An open invitation is extended to all ladies of the community to join the Auxillary in it's efforts to raise money for the fire department.

The following persons were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ramey and two children at the Valley House in Chillicothe for a seafood dinner on last Friday evening, Jan. 14. The Rev. and Mrs. Lynn Summers, Bobby and Jody; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Lenny Hardman and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and two children; Mrs. Ruth Reid; Mrs. Alma Radabaugh; Mrs. Evelyn Boyd; and Miss Arnetta Boyd. Before returning home they all stopped for a visit with Lynn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Summers of Chillicothe. They then returned to the Hardman home where they enjoyed watching home movies and were served hot chocolate and ice tea. Although there was a lot of slipping and sliding in the snow, everyone had a good time. Thanks a lot, Mike and Connie.

My mistake in names last week. Mrs. Thomas (Mary) Rose — not Whisler, was one of the survivors (a daughter) of the late Laura Whisler who was buried on Jan. 10.

Mrs. Vera Garrett of Adelphi spent the past week with her daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter, Cliff, Joy and Mindy Reams of Laurelville.

Because of the very bad weather I guess no one has gone visiting or had company and I don't blame them but it makes for a very short news column. I wish my ancestors had settled in Florida or California, instead of Ohio.

Grandma Tired Of Entertaining

DEAR ABBY: Approximately a year ago you ran an article about a mother who never made her own Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner. Instead, she went to her mother's or mother-in-law's. She wrote to say that she wishes now that she had developed her own holiday celebrations.

That letter was terrific. If you could publish it again, it would be a great help to a lot of people.

Believe it or not, I am a grandmother who wishes my married children would make their own holiday dinner and invite me as a guest.

Sign me . . . "TIRED", or . . .

DEAR PAID: It wasn't hard to find, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your column for years, and around holiday time someone always asks, "Should we go to HIS mother's or to MY mother's for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner?" Your answer has always been: "Why not alternate?"

Grand National Bridge Event

The Circleville Duplicate Bridge Club will participate this year in the Grand National Team for Four. This is a national team championship of the American Contract Bridge League to select a team to represent America in the World Championships.

A two-session Swiss Team event will be held in Circleville at the local YMCA building Feb. 16 and Feb. 23. Winners will then play in a four-session round robin in Columbus on Feb. 26 and 27.

Entries should be sent to Margaret Knox (474-7315) by Jan. 23.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Old-Time Riverman Sees Tough Times

CINCINNATI (AP) — Take it from veteran boatmen W.C. Beatty, 90, and his son, Capt. John, 61: the ice buildup along this old river city spells trouble. "This is starting out like the winter of 1917-18. That was the year of the bad ice—worst I've ever seen—and I've been down on the river since 1907," said the senior Beatty.

His son is bracing for the worst in the wake of the first full freeze on the Ohio River in 14 years.

The captain owns the floating riverboat restaurant, the Mike Fink, a popular eating place currently locked in 10 inches of ice on the Covington, Ky., side, across from Riverfront Stadium.

He is taking precautions to save the 41-year-old paddlewheeler from being destroyed when the spring thaw brings grinding ice.

"A boat is a people. You get attached to them," said the captain Tuesday after maneuvering two heavy barges into position to shield the Mike Fink from the expected ice assault.

The Mike Fink, a 500-ton, 197-foot former towboat, is named after a brawling keelboatman who plied the waterways in the early 1800's.

"She can be a little cantankerous at times, but she's a good old girl," said Beatty, who owns the largest marine salvage operation on the nation's inland waters. He is familiar with rescue efforts, having saved more than 60 persons from drowning during his 50 years on the river.

"Another week of this 25 below weather and we're going to see some real bad times on this river," said Beatty, shivering in a chilled mist.

He has positioned a derrick barge with ice-breaking capabilities upstream from the Mike Fink and stationed a tugboat, the Clare Beatty, alongside to keep rampaging ice from puncturing the steel hull.

His father feels the Mike Fink can weather the onslaught. "She's a strong old lady, all steel and in good shape. She'll take a beating."

The captain's major concerns are two upriver tributaries, the Licking and Miami rivers. "The Miami can be real mean when it breaks up, but the Licking is one of the few rivers that runs north. That means its ice is going to be pushed right at us when it jams. It will run across the Ohio and right up the walls of Riverfront Stadium."

The elder Beatty watches the frigid temperatures and worries, remembering the results of the 1918 ice disaster.

"When the ice went out, it wrecked every boat on the river, except one I built and several others. I saw a side-wheeler pushed all the way up Mill Creek to where that new depot is now," he said, referring to Union Terminal, the now-defunct railroad station built in 1933.

"It mashed boats of every size, just disintegrated them," he said.

Derby News

The sermon title for Sunday morning worship service at the Derby United Methodist Church on Jan. 23, will be "The Right Choice" with the Rev. Larry Zellers in the pulpit.

The Derby Youth group "The Fish Net" which meets at the church every second and fourth Sunday from 2-4 p.m. deserve a lot of praise along with The Rev. Zellers, for their efforts during the holidays and year 'round on behalf of the needy in the community. They meet to plan how best to help the community. They welcome new members of any age.

Mrs. Nancy Rawlins is organizing a Brownie troop for kindergarten and first grade girls at the Derby Elementary school. They meet every Wednesday after school, at the school. Her phone is 877-4646.

Sympathy of Derby and area residents goes out to the family of Chris Christensen, 83, who passed away in Madison County hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Thelma Higgins returned by plane Monday night to Santa Monica, California after spending several weeks visiting her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell, Debbie and Mike.

Mrs. Ruth Thelma White has been a patient in Mt. Carmel Medical Center since Monday night.

In February I will have completed 16 years as Derby news correspondent for the Circleville Herald. I have enjoyed every minute and made many new friends. May I take this opportunity to say how much I appreciate all the help and many kindnesses shown by my readers, and especially during my illness. I am slowly improving and hope to serve you even better in future. Thank you, and God bless you all.

Kentucky Burley Prices Increase

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Prices and volume jumped sharply Wednesday as most of Kentucky's burley tobacco markets ignored cold temperatures.

The Tobacco Market News Service reported that 3,069,279 pounds of burley sold Wednesday for an average price of $115.82.

Those figures compare with Tuesday's figures of 1,930,051 pounds of leaf sold, and an average price of just $113.61.

A total of 16 markets were open Tuesday, but 22 of the state's 30 markets were closed Wednesday. Markets closed Wednesday included Bloomfield, Harrodsburg, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Horse Cave, Mayfield, Russellville and Springfield.

Single Tax Proposal Blasted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Democratic-sponsored proposal for repeal of all state business taxes in favor of a Single Business Tax has gotten a cold shoulder from the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, chairman of the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee, offered the all-inclusive tax as an alternative to Rhodes' latest industrial tax incentive package.

Orlett called Rhodes' plan for selective tax breaks to stimulate industry a piecemeal approach and asked where money would be found to make up for losses stemming from exemptions.

"Would it not be better to completely overhaul Ohio's business tax structure—repeal the corporate franchise tax, tangible personal property tax, the business portion of the intangibles tax," and all other business taxes, he asked.

Instead, Orlett would levy a Single Business Tax on all businesses, based on a percentage of a tax base that would be determined by the sum of profits, plus payroll, net interest paid, and depreciation—and minus capital expenditures.

The 100 per cent write-off of new capital investments would be a major benefit, permitting industries with construction underway to keep cash on hand, he said.

"Property selection of a Single Business Tax base formula will favorably affect job creation, investment decisions and labor market patterns for this state for years to come," Orlett said in a letter to Rhodes.

Rhodes' tax commissioner, Edgar L. Lindley, said in response to Orlett said the Single Business Tax concept involved a broadening of the tax base largely by shifting the burden from capital to labor.

An experiment with the tax in Michigan, Lindley said, found that high labor intensive firms, low profit firms and those actually losing money, took a beating under the system.

He also cited as weaknesses: a disassociation from ability to pay; a regressive tendency to increase costs of essentials, and a tendency to internalize the state tax system, also regressive.

"For reasons as yet not definitely identified, the Single Business Tax (in Michigan) has failed to meet its anticipated revenue projections," Lindley said. "Its administrator indicates that another year's experience will be needed to develop a data base sufficient to even recommend solutions."

The Ohio taxman said Rhodes' abatement plans would limit future tax burdens, but would not "necessarily imply a reduction or loss in existing revenues."

"I believe that prudence dictates that final judgment on the Single Business Tax be reserved, at least until Michigan's second year of experience is completed," he told Orlett.

The Dayton lawmaker said he was considering introducing Single Business Tax legislation next month.

The governor's bills are also expected to be introduced in February.

Business Slows At Ice Cream Stores

CINCINNATI (AP) — At 25 degrees below zero, many of his best customers no longer come around, but Mike Haggis isn't worried about the future of his ice cream business.

"Just you wait, they'll be back," Haggis shrugs. "Let the temperature get up to 25 degrees above zero and they'll be acting like it's 80."

"Last year, the temperature spurted up about 30 degrees one day and it was so busy in here, I didn't have enough help. I couldn't serve ice cream fast enough."

There's plenty of time for service these days at local ice cream emporiums. With the temperatures reaching recordbreaking low levels, the customers have been few and far between.

"You straighten the napkins and then fix the straws and a few minutes later, you're looking at the napkins again," said Christine Raschick, who works at Yummy Yogurt, which is spending its first months in business battling the cold weather.

"Thank heavens for the few faithful who want some frozen yogurt no matter what the temperature."

Even in more established stores like the Baskin-Robbins franchise down the street, where Haggis is co-owner and manager, business has been slow. In fact, Monday's record low temperature also produced a record low number of customers.

There has remained that steady trickle of regulars, however, who are unwayed by snow and biting winds.

"Every morning at 11 o'clock, there's a man waiting for me to open up so he can have a combination of vanilla and chocolate almond ice cream," Haggis said.

"Then there's this guy that comes in here every day we call 'Burgundy Cherry' because every day, no matter what the temperature, he's in here for one scoop of burgundy cherry ice cream on a cone."

Customers come in shivering and bundled in layers of clothes to keep warm and then they order a quart of ice cream. These days, Haggis and his employees don't even bother putting it in dry ice.

"They'll come in here shivering, talking about how cold it is, and in the next breath, they'll be asking us for ice cream," said Joan Bockhold.

The wintry weather does create some definite taste patterns, Haggis noted.

"We sell a lot of shakes and malts in the winter," he said. "In the summer everyone wants cones. And as for hot fudge, we're all out."

His customers worry about Haggis these days.

"Everyone comes in and says 'business must be lousy,'" Haggis said. "But just give them time to get used to this weather and they'll start thinking it's not too bad."

"That's when they'll really start coming back."

Glenn Seeks Federal Gas Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying Congress "cannot stand silently" while the situation worsens, Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, has proposed legislation to confront what he called a natural gas crisis in some states.

Glenn introduced legislation in the Senate Tuesday to enable the President to declare a natural gas emergency and empower the Federal Power Commission to reallocate gas to areas desperately needing it.

Glenn's bill, the Temporary Natural Gas Emergency Supply Act, calls upon the President to declare an emergency when a shortage is so severe that a state is "clearly incapable of coping with shortages and the public welfare is endangered."

Following such a declaration, the FPC would set plans to shift gas from interstate pipelines with greater supplies to those serving the distressed states. The commission currently has no authority to make such allocations.

Noting the forced closings of schools, businesses and plants due to gas curtailments, Glenn said:

"What alarms me even more than the grave present reality is that the government apparently does not have the legal means to thwart an impending tragedy if temperatures in the Midwest stay at their record low levels. Ohio, and several other states, are one step removed from stark tragedy."

Glenn said his bill would be a temporary, last-resort mechanism and "strictly a protection against the possibility that some states would be paralyzed while others suffer comparatively little hardship."

Ohio passed laws in 1921 permitting taxing property for school purposes, but it was not until 1925 that a county school tax of a half mill was actually levied.—AP

See Good Coming From State Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says the federal-state investigations of Medicaid and other welfare programs will conclude with Ohio having a "model department, the only one in the United States."

Rhodes said he is confident because Richard L. Krabach, his former finance and administrative services director, will head the major effort of determining what changes need to be made.

Krabach recently resigned as administrative services director, under a prior agreement with Rhodes to stay only during the governor's third term transition.

But he stayed on, at Rhodes' request, to be head of the Governor's Cost Control Council—a group seeking ways to streamline state government and weed out unneeded bureaucracy.

The council consists of a group of unpaid businessmen whose recommendations, says Rhodes, already have resulted in a savings for state government of $40 million. He said he anticipates another $100 million in savings when the recommendations are completed and implemented.

"Dick Krabach is going to be in charge of the welfare reorganization," said Rhodes, adding "we are going to have a model department over there."

Krabach also will head the council's effort to eliminate waste in education, the governor said.

Rhodes' confidence in Krabach goes at least back to the mid-1960s when the then state finance director headed a so-called "Little Hoover Commission" which submitted 316 recommendations and assertedly saved Ohio about $23 million a year.

The 112th Ohio General Assembly probably will surpass the 111th in the passage of new laws. If for no other reason, Democratic majorities (62-37 in the House and 21-12 in the Senate) are sufficient to override the vetoes of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes vetoed 23 bills enacted by the last legislature and applied numerous line item votes to other measures, including 72 items in the 1975-1977 budget bill.

The 111th enacted 475 bills— 307 originating in the House and 168 in the Senate. That compared to 237 in the House and 186 in the Senate, for a total of 403, by the 110th General Assembly which met during the years 1973 and 1974.

During the 110th, the governor's office was occupied by Democrat John J. Gilligan, but at that time, Republicans still had a 17-16 edge in the Senate where Democratic bills often were killed or widely amended before being sent to Gilligan.

Cold Air Persists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold temperatures persisted over the East this morning, and the danger of frost reached down into south Florida. Key West, Fla., broke its record low temperature for Jan. 19 with a reading of 49.

Travelers' advisories were in effect from south Minnesota to northeast Arkansas and from the Ohio and Tennessee valleys to South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. The advisories warned of blowing and drifting snow in the Northwest, up to four inches of snow in the Ohio valley, one to three inches in the Tennessee valley and slippery roads farther south.

A few light rainshowers were scattered in the south portion of California today, and patches of fog formed along the Pacific coast. Otherwise, skies were partly cloudy or clear over most of the plains, the Rockies and the Pacific coast. Temperatures stayed above freezing for the south plains and portions of the central plains.

Toll-Free Turnpike Prospect Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The prospect of a toll-free Ohio Turnpike in the early 1980s has been again challenged.

Transportation Research Board Chairman Roger F. Dreyer said Wednesday that tolls should be continued on the 241 mile roadway even after its debt is paid off, in order to bring it up to federal standards.

"The economics of the state budget being what it is, it is no longer prudent for any public earning asset to be vacated for purely emotional reasons," Dreyer said in Ohio News Service, a political newsletter he co-publishes.

"The road should be essentially rebuilt to today's safe interstate standards before it becomes a free road," Dreyer maintained. "Any other course is irresponsible."

Dreyer helped develop legislation in 1972 that would have created an Ohio Transportation Commission to absorb the turnpike commission, its assets and revenue-raising power. The bills, never approved, were bitterly opposed by the late James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the commission for almost 26 years, who insisted the highway should be free to Ohioans when its bonded debt was paid.

With only about $75 million outstanding, that could become a reality as early as 1981.

Dreyer's comments did not represent a policy statement of the Transportation Research Board, which is mainly involved with overseeing the Transportation Research Center, near Marysville.

Turnpike Executive Director Alan V. Johnson said the northern Ohio highway already met "most essential standards" required of federal highways.

Under a 1964 agreement, the turnpike will become a federal-state responsibility when it is debt free. The turnpike commission, which currently operates it, is a quasi-independent agency.

According to Ohio law, the turnpike must become a free highway when the bonds are paid off and it is "in good condition and repair to the satisfaction" of the transportation director.

Shocknessy interpreted that to mean "in good condition" as a turnpike and not that improvements or an expansion must be made, Johnson said.

"I consider that the turnpike is in outstanding condition and repair," Johnson said in a telephone interview in Berea.

Former Transportation Director Richard Jackson, currently head of administrative services, interprets the law somewhat differently.

To meet "the intent of the law," Jackson said portions of the road

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Development Bank's recent approval of loans to Peru to build a large hotel two miles from Machu Picchu, the lost city of the Incas, has heightened archeologists' concerns that by making the area more accessible to visitors, its charm may be lost forever.

Machu Picchu, discovered in the isolated Andean jungle by Hiram Bingham in 1911, is a score of granite shrines, fountains, dwellings and steep stairways built on a saddle between two peaks. Part of its appeal is its splendid isolation.

Already hundreds of visitors reach Machu Picchu each day by a long train and bus trip from Cuzco, but the small hotel at the site allows only a privileged few to remain overnight.

According to "We Americans," a National Geographic Society book, about one out of every four American colonists remained loyal to the British crown during the Revolutionary War.

4-Day Pre-Lenten Preaching Mission Slated Feb. 13-16

The First Presbyterian Church, 134 East Mound Street, has been chosen as the host church for the annual pre-Lenten Preaching Mission, sponsored by Pickaway County churches and the Pickaway County Ministerial Association.

This four-day event is scheduled for February 13, 14, 15 and 16 at 7:30 p.m. and will feature guest speaker, Dr. Ralph Earle, professor of New Testament at the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Earle, noted author of more than 30 books and contributor to many religious reference works, has been a minister in the Church of the Nazarene for more than 40 years. While holding pastorates in Woonsocket, R.I. and Everett, Mass. from 1933 to 1945, he was professor of biblical literature at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Mass.

Dr. Earle and his wife spent two years overseas in volunteer missionary work. They have visited some 32 countries and have ministered in 18 of these, teaching in Korea, Japan and Lebanon, as well as lecturing at mission schools in many other countries.

A graduate of Eastern Nazarene College where he received his AB degree, Dr. Earle attended Boston University and Gordon Divinity School for his graduate work. He has also done post-doctoral study at Harvard and Edinburgh Universities. He is chairman of the Committee on Bible Translation for the new International version of the testaments.

Dr. Earle has announced his sermon topics for the four evenings of the Preaching Mission, according to Rev. Roy Heimbach, chairman of the planning committee. The emphasis will center on how Christians can deal with the world in which they find themselves; Sunday, Feb. 13—Shining Lights in a Dark World; Monday—Showing God to a Lost World; Tuesday—Shaping Life in a Confused World; Wednesday—Speaking God's Will in a Cynical World.

Director of Music for the Preaching Mission will be Pastor Robert P. Miller from Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church. The music will be provided by school and church groups from throughout the county.

Rev. Heimbach and his planning committee of local clergymen have added a new dimension to the Preaching Mission this year by sponsoring a three-day seminar at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union Activity Center Building on Circleville-Tarleton Road. The time for these meetings will be from 10 to 11 on Feb. 14, 15 and 16. Dr. Earle will lead the discussions.

Four Prayer Breakfasts will precede the Preaching Mission and they will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on Saturday mornings—January 22 and 29 and February 5 and 12. The January 22 meeting will be held at the Pickaway Arms with Charles Hickey in charge of the program. The other three Saturdays, participants will gather at the Circleville Bible College Cafeteria. These meetings are open to members of all local churches and to those without a religious affiliation who would like to take part in the fellowship.

The Ministerial Association Planning Committee consists of the following clergymen—Roy Heimbach, chairman, Robert P. Miller, Sr., William Hill, Carl Butterbaugh, Richard Crosby and Eugene Flowers. Charles Hickey, Larry Plum, Charles Wellman, Lowell Rader and Trudy Yates are providing lay assistance.

Nature Walk Given Boost By Snowfall

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Severe weather of the past month is creating some spectacular scenery for cold weather buffs who take the annual winter hike at Hocking State Park Saturday.

Employees of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources have worked all week to prepare parking and trail facilities for an expected turnout of 5,000 hikers.

If that many make it, Larry Henry of the Division of Parks and Recreation said it will be a record. He said the more than 4,000 who made the hike last year was a record turnout.

The only hitch that has developed in the planning so far is a lack of clip-on shoe spikes for hiking guides.

"We've bought all we can find," Henry said, "and it looks like about ten guides will have to slip and slide on the ice and snow like the other hikers."

Henry said about 150 department employees will be involved as guides, rangers, emergency crews, trail workers and drivers.

"There is 12 inches of snow in the area and all the falls are frozen solid," he said. "This is the first time since 1968 we have had both conditions."

Weather forecast for that area Saturday calls for morning snow and temperatures into the high 20s during the day, ideal conditions for the hike.

"We are getting 20-30 calls a day about the hike," Henry said. "If the weather turns severe we are prepared to cut the hike to three miles."

"The only way we would cancel is if snow blocks the roads and nobody can get to the starting point at Old Man's Cave."

Division crews will work Friday night checking, clearing and sanding the trail through woods, ravines and rock crevices.

Guides are to be at work at 7:30 a.m. with the first guided group to start at 9 a.m.

The department traditionally sets up a bean soup and coffee kitchen in a picnic area where hikers can take a break midway along the trail.

Billy Won't Spend Time In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter, a beer can in hand and a wide grin on his face, is getting acquainted with the city his older brother will dominate for the next four years.

But Billy, visiting Washington for the first time, seems unimpressed by his new status, the people who kowtow to him and the trappings surrounding the incoming president.

He brought a tuxedo to wear to the inaugural parties tonight, but he was dressed in a blue denim leisure suit when he arrived aboard a chartered jet from Georgia on Wednesday for five days of partying.

As the bus carrying his group passed the White House, he was asked whether he would stay overnight there before returning to his peanut warehouse and gas station in Plains. "No," he replied firmly, sipping from an ever-present can of beer. "I will never spend the night in a mansion."

The 39-year-old Carter, his wife and six children and dozens of Georgia friends and neighbors have taken over the ninth floor of the Washington Hilton until Sunday. Also rooming there are the sons of Jimmy Carter — Jack, Chip and Jeff — and their wives.

The scene was chaotic on the ninth floor Wednesday afternoon, with Carter children running back and forth and Chip, 26, trying to help his family and friends figure out what parties they were going to and at what time.

Revenue Hearing Proves Flop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials didn't exactly applaud the federal bureaucracy this week when a hearing on Ohio's use of $183 million in federal revenue sharing funds turned out to be a flop.

One person—a state employee—showed up.

James A. Vroonland, budget and management official who set up the hearing Tuesday, observed Wednesday, in classic understatement: "I would say that it was not a very enthusiastic response." It suggested, he added, there was "no real need for such a hearing."

Vroonland had two aides deployed all day with note pads intact in a large hearing room on the 29th floor of the State Office Tower.

It was below zero outside much of the day, and Vroonland the weather may have been a factor. He set the hearing, and advertised it in advance, under a new federal law that requires the states to invite citizen input prior to legislative deliberations into the use of revenue sharing funds, he said.

But he said he was "a little surprised" that various lobbying groups, always seeking more support for their special projects, did not testify.

He speculated they were sophisticated enough to know that the legislature will conduct hearings later on how the money should be spent.

Ross Ekstrom, a mental health employee, was the sole witness Tuesday. He expressed concerns about spending outlays for his agency "but didn't make any specific recommendations," Vroonland said.

The state's federal dollars, which began with an $83 million allocation in early 1974, until now have gone into the general revenue fund and mixed with numerous other revenues which combine to finance state operations.

The wart hog is a wild pig found in eastern and southern Africa. It gets its name from three great warts on each side of its long, flat face.

Darby Creek Metropolitan Park Acquires 29 Acres

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) has assisted in the purchase of 29 acres of land to be added to Darby Creek Metropolitan Park in Franklin County.

Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater today (1-18) presented a check for $50,000 to Ed Hutchins, director-secretary of the Metropolitan Park District of Columbus and Franklin County. The money makes up the major part of the $85,000 purchase price of a parcel of land owned by Leona and Okie Rice of 3515 Gardner Road, Columbus.

The park district, which administers the 368-acre Darby Creek Metropolitan Park, has provided the additional $35,000 for purchase of the land.

The 29-acre tract is adjacent to the park along Little Darby Creek just north of Alkire Road near the Community of Georgesville.

"Acquisition of this property will provide additional access for canoeists into Little Darby Creek and Big Darby Creek," Teater said. "This land purchase is part of our continuing program to increase waterways available for recreational use."

The ODNR portion of the purchase price was provided by the Department's Division of Watercraft through the Waterways Safety Fund, which is supported by money generated from the sale of boat registrations and the tax on marine fuel.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A low pressure system moving east from Illinois is spreading new snow which should fall throughout Ohio before the day is out.

The snow will be more of a problem in the south of Ohio where the forecast is for snow accumulations of one to three inches. Elsewhere snow is forecast to be two inches or less.

The low will move rapidly southeast but so will a cold front coming out of Canada, reaching northern Ohio a little after midnight. As it speeds southward through the state it will keep snow flurries falling in the state.

High temperatures will be mostly in the 20s but for the weekend they will get into the 30s across southern Ohio. Low temperatures will stay mostly in the teens but they may be locally lower in parts of northern Ohio.

Sneek-A-Peek AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Brrr! If you're starting to feel like an ice cube, thaw out your mind with a good book. Our younger citizens can start with the Children's Room's new titles, which include books for preschoolers through junior high.

For our littlest bookworms we have a new brightly illustrated edition of "Humpty Dumpty." The last few pages offer a pattern and directions for making your own model of this famous egg, should you feel so inclined. (398.8)

Arnold Lobel illustrates "As Right as Right Can Be." Here, Ron Ronson's new shoelaces set off a chain of events that result in his bankruptcy. Young children will enjoy the repetition and steady pace and shouldn't have any problems grasping the moral of this story.

Older children can think Spring with baseball as they read "Sports Hero: Pete Rose." Large print and a generous sprinkling of photographs makes this appealing to reluctant readers. (Grades 3+)

If anyone is observing today's events in Washington by eating peanuts, you'll find some interesting ways to fix them in "The Peanut Cookbook." In this text you'll discover dishes such as "Vegetarian Peanut Burger," "Peanut Butter Soup," "Yummy Peanut Butter Pie," and "Crunchy Cucumber Canoes." (641.6)

"Valleys" describe ways in which this geological form is created and then discusses five of the better known valleys in the United States. Included are the Shenandoah Valley, the Tennessee Valley, the Red River Valley, Death Valley, and the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. (551.4)

If you've enjoyed our other books from the weird and horrible Library Series, don't miss our newest one, "Witches." This well researched text gives a history of witchcraft in Africa, Europe, and America and presents interesting bits about the folklore of witches. (133.4)

Come in soon to get a book that suits your tastes. Make the best of being penned in by the weather — read!

Columbia Gas Seeks Okay To Acquire Emergency Supply

Columbia Gas of Ohio has asked the Ohio Public Utilities Commission for immediate approval of a plan that would enable the company to deliver several billion cubic feet of emergency gas to schools, other curtailed commercial customers and high priority industries.

The plan requests that the cost of from three to seven billion cubic feet of more-expensive emergency gas the company anticipates it may be able to obtain during the remainder of the winter be spread over those customers benefitting from the additional supplies.

The gas is expected to cost Columbia about $3.25 a thousand cubic feet to obtain. When this price is spread over all affected customers it will mean an increase of from five to 11 cents a thousand cubic feet in the rate the customer pays for gas service over the next 12 months. The final cost will be determined by how much gas can be obtained.

Marvin E. White, Columbus, chairman of the board of Columbia Gas of Ohio, said the plan is being proposed to permit the company to attempt to limit or minimize additional curtailment on its customers as a result of the cold temperatures which are averaging almost 42 per cent below normal throughout the state in January.

He said the plan would comply with a recently-passed state law which requires that the additional cost of any short term emergency gas be charged only to those customers that benefit from the gas.

When said "higher curtailments for commercial and industrial users may be necessary before the end of January to offset the exceptionally heavy gas usage this month due to the extremely cold temperatures. However, Columbia may be able to reduce this curtailment or avert it altogether if we are able to obtain the emergency gas and if the plan is approved by the PUCO." The additional curtailments would affect large commercial customers, including schools; industries that cannot use an alternate fuel; and the 10,000 small commercial and industrial customers that only recently came under curtailment.

Presently PUCO procedures require that, if Columbia is able to obtain any emergency gas supplies, the company must survey all of its curtailed customers and offer the gas to them on a direct purchase basis.

White said the plan Columbia filed today would eliminate this time consuming survey and would expedite the process of getting any additional gas that became available to the customers that need it at a minimum price.

Ball State Trips OU, 66-63

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ball State recorded its first-ever basketball triumph over perennially tough Ohio University Wednesday night, and Coach Jim Holstein gave guards Jim Hahn and Jim Fields most of the credit.

"Our guards are good shooters and that was the thing that did it for us," despite the Bobcats' "packing defense," Holstein said following the 66-63 Mid-American Conference victory.

Hahn was particularly deadly from the free throw line, hitting 11 of 12 shots, and finished with a total of 25 points.

"We matched up well against their zone," Holstein said, reviewing the triumph, which upped Ball State's league mark to 2-3. "Actually, I think the zone helped us; we could rest a little," he added.

The Bobcats battled back from a 37-30 halftime deficit to take the lead 56-55 with 6:42 left to play. But Ball State again took the initiative and then used ball control to hand Ohio its fourth loss in five MAC contests.

"Sure, it's frustrating," Bobcat Coach Dale Bandy said afterward. "But we have to remember that in the close ones we're going with sophomores and young people in critical situations. When they gain experience, we'll win these kind."

In the only other Mid-American action Wednesday night, Northern Illinois lifted its record to 3-1 with a 84-78 verdict over Eastern Michigan as forward Matt Hicks scored 23 points.

The Huskies wiped out a 14-point halftime disadvantage by outscoring the Hurons 25-4 in an eight-minute stretch of the second period to hand Eastern its fifth defeat in as many MAC outings.

Playing outside the league, Miami defeated neighboring Dayton 79-70, Toledo downed South Carolina 67-58 and Bowling Green was surprised by Cleveland State 69-65.

Miami and Dayton were nip and tuck until the Redskins opened the second half with eight straight points to take a 45-35 advantage which Dayton couldn't overcome. The victory lifted Miami to a 9-3 record which Dayton dropped to 10-4.

Toledo, now 11-4, got some breathing room with a six-point scoring burst in the closing minutes after the two teams had stayed neck-to-neck through most of the contest.

Bowling Green rallied to move from 14 points behind to four points late in the game but could get no closer in suffering its eighth loss in 13 games.

Cleveland State, led by Dave Kyle with 24 points, hiked its record to 6-7.

In other major Ohio college basketball play, Louisville rallied in the second half to upset second-ranked and previously unbeaten Cincinnati 83-77 in a Metro-7 conference game.

Louisville, 11-2 and ranked 12th nationally, outscored the Bearcats 13-2 in one stretch, led by freshman reserve Darrell Griffith with seven points. The loss was Cincinnati's first in 13 games.

In Ohio Conference action, Marietta defeated Ohio Wesleyan 99-89 behind Rich Miracle's 31-point performance, Wooster downed Heidelberg 81-74 as George Zambie and Wayne Allison combined for 29 points, and previously winless Oberlin whipped Kenyon 85-68.

Wilmington upended Hoosier-Buckeye Conference leader Defiance 86-82 with the help of Mike Piehuta's 22 points.

Mid-Ohio Conference play saw Malone beating Urbana 78-65, while Carnegie-Mellon edged John Carroll 92-90 in overtime in a Presidents Conference contest.

Elsewhere, it was Youngstown State 67, Ashland 63 and Muskingum 89, Dyke 67. Cold weather postponed the scheduled game at Akron between the Zips and Gannon, Pa.

Women's Pro Basketball League Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rozelle would choke on his football if he knew that a fellow commissioner approved and supported sports gambling.

"I think it will make our sport more interesting," said Lois Geraci Ernst, commissioner of the new Women's Basketball Association. "With offtrack betting and the like, we know that gambling happens."

"I have no problems with it. If it brings people into our arenas, that's fine. A lot of men will bet on anything they can make money on."

A lot of people are betting that women's basketball will bounce as high as an airless ball. Mrs. Ernst is not one of them.

"I think it will work because we're going to attract a new kind of fan," she said. "We won't be in competition with the (New York) Knicks. We're going to get the young woman, and she's going to bring her husband."

The 12-team league, which announced Wednesday that it will begin play in October, is in the process of selling its franchises. League officials said New York and Dallas have found buyers, with sales close in Los Angeles, Phoenix, Des Moines, Iowa, and Milwaukee. The other league cities will be Philadelphia; Greensboro, N.C.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Indianapolis; Salt Lake City, and Portland, Ore.

Tiger Frosh Matmen Stop Gahanna, 42-18

Circleville's freshman wrestling team came up with an overwhelming 42-18 win over Gahanna Wednesday.

"Not being able to practice for five days due to the cold weather hurt both teams equally," Circleville coach Dick Walters commented.

"Most of our men regained their sharpness as the matches proceeded and it was a very good win for us as Gahanna has some top flight people."

"Everyone wrestled well for us and I was especially pleased with the efforts of Mike Linton, Dave Cordle, Rocky Ford (exhibition) and our co-captains Jim Butler and Mike Contino," Walters stated.

Here are the results of the matches:

92-pound — Miller (C) pinned Powers (G), 4:09.

97-pound — Chelickowsky (C) pinned Powers (G), 0:59.

102-pound — Wilkins (C) won by forfeit.

107-pound — Rutherford (G) decided Obermeyer (C), 7-1.

112-pound — Zenua (C) decided Vinkovich (C), 12-8.

117-pound — Bradshaw (G) decided Brady (C), 5-0.

122-pound — Contino (C) pinned Traver (G), 3:45.

128-pound — Butler (C) decided Plotnick (G), 9-6.

134-pound — Linton (C) decided Bergerstein (G), 6-5.

140-pound — Baas (G) pinned Allen (C), 1:12.

147-pound — Wepking (G) decided Mosley (C), 12-9.

157-pound — Cordle (C) pinned Wilson (G), 2:45.

167-pound — Both teams forfeited.

HVY Ford (C) won by forfeit.

The Circleville freshmen will host a powerful Worthington squad 6 p.m. Friday while the seventh and eighth grade Tigers varsity and reserves will be at Marysville 6:30 p.m.

Weather Hampers Ohio Sports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pundits years from now may call it The Great Sports Freeze of 1977.

A run of sub-zero weather, coupled with shortages of natural gas, has played havoc with the schedules of Ohio's colleges and high schools.

Only the state's major professional teams, Cleveland's basketball Cavaliers and the hockey-playing Cleveland Barons and Cincinnati Stingers, haven't missed a game.

"I'd say over 50 per cent of our schools have had at least one game postponed," said Harold Meyer, the commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association.

The shutdown of schools because of the gas shortage and sports postponements has created a new problem for the OHSAA. The governing body of Ohio prep sports has nothing in its constitution to cover such a situation. The OHSAA board was to consider the problem today.

"We've never had a policy of school closings because of fuel shortages," said Meyer, an OHSAA official for 14 years. "We have rulings for schools closed because of financial shortages or teachers' strikes."

Meyer continued, "This is the first time we've had anything like this statewide. The great 1950 snowfall came during Thanksgiving time. We were through football and just getting ready for basketball."

"And we've had some flooding in Southeastern Ohio, too. We had to move a boys' basketball tournament from Athens one year because of the high water."

Every part of the state has been hit by the frigid weather. Columbus has lost two straight rounds of boys league basketball. Cleveland city schools are closed until Monday, wiping out all winter sports events for the rest of the week. So is Cincinnati.

"Well, that makes 31 postponements. I'm keeping score," cracked Marv Jones, Chillicothe Gazette sports editor in learning the Southeastern at Piketon basketball game was weathered out Tuesday night.

Meyer says all winter programs for boys and girls basketball, boys and girls gymnastics, boys swimming and boys wrestling have felt the sting of the closings.

"And what worries me is that it's going to affect us later in the school year when schools use up their allotments of gas. We have to decide how we are going to handle sports events if that happens," said the commissioner.

Meyer said it was possible some schools would not play their full regular season boys basketball schedules of 18 games for football schools and 21 for nonfootball members.

The weather, which has been below freezing since Dec. 26 in Ohio, has forced postponement of six state college games since Friday. Even the big Monday match between Louisville and host Dayton was set back to Jan. 27.

The sprawling Ohio State athletic program has escaped any postponements. "The only way we've been affected is the cutting back of temperatures. It's a little chilly operating around here," said Hugh Hindman, the Big Ten school's associate athletic director.

Nets Drop 11th Straight; Lost 109-94

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

New York Nets Coach Kevin Loughery already has started looking to the future. Considering the way the present looks, he can't be blamed.

Loughery watched his club keep pace with Portland for better than three periods Wednesday night, only to fade in the stretch and lose 109-94. It was the Nets' 11th consecutive National Basketball Association defeat, a club record, and Loughery has just about run out of answers.

"We may go back to playing a running game," Loughery suggested, even though he realizes he does not have the big center to get the rebounds to start a running game, and that Tiny Archibald, the guard who could make such an attack go, is on the injured list for at least another month.

But a running game is the kind Loughery likes best, and obviously the Nets have not done well with the pattern play they have been using this season — their 12-29 record attesting to that. The Nets might not win many games by running, but at least it will give Loughery a line on next season.

"I want to try and determine what players I want back for next year," he said.

Elsewhere in the NBA Wednesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the Atlanta Hawks 114-94, the Washington Bullets edged the Buffalo Braves 91-87, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Chicago Bulls 115-107, the Boston Celtics defeated the Houston Rockets 112-102, the Phoenix Suns stopped the New York Knicks 97-90 and the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Indiana Pacers 109-102.

Bearcat Coach Blames Loss On TV

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Gale Catlett is among the first to admit that television has helped college basketball.

But Wednesday night, he says, it hurt his Cincinnati Bearcats.

The nation's second-ranked team was short-circuited by a TV timeout, according to Catlett, and thus lost an 83-77 decision to No. 12 Louisville.

"I wish they'd eliminate the timeouts for TV or call them at a set time," said Catlett. "We were making a run at them and had them on the ropes, so to speak."

It was Catlett's contention that the critical timeout slowed the Bearcats after they had picked up momentum and forged a 31-31 tie in the first half. The Cincinnati coach also accused Louisville Coach Denny Crum of conspiracy in the incident.

"What bothered me," said Catlett, "was that Coach Crum called for that timeout from the bench."

Crum's alleged directorial talent was not the only thing within Catlett's range of fire. He also took verbal shots at the officials.

"It was the poorest officiated game since I've been head coach," said Catlett, pointing among other things to a 2-1 ratio in fouls called against his team. Cincinnati was charged with 32 personal fouls, compared to 16 for Louisville.

The Bearcats were one of three Top 20 teams upset Wednesday night. North Carolina State edged No. 4 North Carolina 75-73 and Clemson stunned No. 13 Maryland 93-71 in Atlantic Coast Conference games.

In another ACC game involving a ranked club, No. 9 Wake Forest trimmed Duke 85-73.

Darrell Griffith ignited a second-half rally as Louisville handed Cincinnati its first defeat after 12 victories. Louisville was leading 54-52 with 11:08 left in the game. Then Griffith came off the bench and spearheaded a 13-2 Cardinals spurt with seven points, including an electrifying slam dunk that sent 16,616 fans into a frenzy.

Kenny Carr hit a field goal with 19 seconds remaining, then blocked a shot by North Carolina's Phil Ford in leading North Carolina State past the Tar Heels.

Skip Brown and Jerry Schellenberg combined for 40 points and led a second-half rally as Wake Forest whipped crippled Duke, playing without star guard Tate Armstrong.

Armstrong, who has averaged more than 20 points per game for the Blue Devils, suffered a broken right wrist Monday in a fall during a game against Virginia and watched Wednesday night's contest from the bench.

With center Wayne "Tree" Rollins leading the way, Clemson took a 44-25 halftime lead and coasted past Maryland. Rollins scored 10 points and grabbed 13 rebounds in the first half as the Tigers handed the Terps their worst defeat in 167 games. Rollins finished the game with 22 points, 23 rebounds and three blocked shots in only 25 minutes.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Keith Herron scored eight straight points, powering Villanova past Massachusetts 81-62; Kevin McDonald and Bobby Willis combined for seven consecutive points late in the game, leading Penn over St. Joseph's, Pa. 63-55; St. Louis defeated Illinois State 84-

77 as Johnnie Parker scored nine points in the second overtime; Stan Joplin and Dave Speicher sank two free throws apiece late in the game, triggering Toledo over South Carolina 67-58; a 23-point performance by Matt Hicks powered Northern Illinois to an 84-78 decision over Eastern Michigan, and Aaron Curry led a balanced attack with 14 points as Oklahoma defeated Nebraska 65-58.

Also, Archie Aldridge's 18 points led Miami of Ohio past Dayton 79-70; Larry Dassie and Mike Evans combined for 41 points as Kansas State whipped Oklahoma State 72-67; Cedric Maxwell collected 18 points as UNC-Charlotte routed Appalachian State 87-59; Jim Hahn fired in 25 points, leading Ball State over Ohio U. 66-63, and George Johnson scored 24 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as St. John's stopped Temple 66-50.

Gregg And Trocano Win TD Club Honors

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Touchdown Club handed out special awards Wednesday night to Cleveland Browns Coach Forrest Gregg and Brooklyn High School quarterback Rick Trocano.

The club, holding its annual awards banquet, honored Gregg on his selection to the Pro Football Hall of Fame this week. The award was accepted by Browns owner Art Modell in behalf of the absent Gregg, who had a previous commitment.

Circleville Cancelled At Greenfield Friday

Circleville's basketball game at Greenfield Friday night has been cancelled and rescheduled for Feb. 15 at Greenfield. McClain called the game off due to the fact they are not holding school this week.

The Circleville-Madison Plains game cancelled Jan. 11 will be played Jan. 25 at the Mill St. Gym with the reserves beginning play at 6:30 p.m.

Burning Qualities Of Wood Differ

By JIM DAUBEL
For The Associated Press
There is something uniquely relaxing about a log fire. The peace of a quiet summer evening around a crackling campfire speaks for itself. The same is true of a well-stoked indoor fireplace or blazing bonfire near the ice skating rink in winter.
But a fire is only as good as its fuel. The burning qualities of wood vary considerably so it is always wise to match wood to the use you'll make of the fire.
A soft, resinous wood, for example, makes a poor choice for outdoor cooking. Unless you like your hotdogs or steaks flavored with the pungent perfume of pine or spruce, you'll choose hard woods for grilling.

Fir, pine and spruce have their uses. They are soft woods. Because of their resin content, they are easy to ignite but they burn fast and hot. Soft wood fires are ideal for large fires of short duration.
For indoor fires, hard woods generally are preferred. Included among the best choices are maple, oak, hickory, beech, ash and various fruitwoods.
Wood from nut and fruit producing trees have the most pleasant aromas. They are more difficult to start, but a hardwood fire lasts a long time and needs relatively little replenishing.

Firewood is most efficient when it is well seasoned, with a moisture content around 20 per cent. Aging outdoors for several months to a year—depending on the species—dries wood naturally.

The process can be hastened by tacking the cut wood in a sunny location and covering it with clear plastic, leaving an open space near the bottom. The plastic sheet will intensify and trap heat from the sun and speed the drying while moisture escapes from the uncovered space along the ground.

Lighting a wood fire confounds many a person who missed such useful training as a scout. The job is quite easy with the right materials.

In an indoor fireplace grate or on a dry spot outside make a mound of crumpled paper or dry leaves at least the size of a football.

Add twigs, small branches, wood chips or splintered kindling no larger than one inch thick. Be generous with the starter wood or pile on branches of increasing thickness until you've doubled the bulk atop the leaves or paper.

Top the pile with several logs so they'll slump against each other as the kindling burns away. Light the paper or leaves and the fire is started.

The logs should touch as they burn, but some space must be maintained between them to allow a free draft to oxygenate the fire.

Add or reposition the logs as they burn, and you should be able to keep a flowing fire going as long as you like.

Mr. Coffee May Become Mr. Tea

BEDFORD HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — The marketer of Mr. Coffee said Wednesday his firm has entered a major cooperative advertising arrangement with Lipton Tea Co. of New York to promote use of tea in the nation's biggest selling automatic coffee maker.

Vincent Marotta, president of North American Systems, Inc., said the campaign comes at a time when consumers are revolting against high coffee prices and when tea consumption normally starts its warm weather upswing.

"We never concentrated that heavily on promoting use of products in Mr. Coffee other than coffee," said Marotta, a former real estate developer who invented the device in 1972. His invention which is manufactured here is the leader in its category, with a 60 per cent share of the automatic coffee maker market.

"The deal with Lipton is they approached us wanting to get into a joint advertising arrangement about Lipton tea being used in Mr. Coffee because Mr. Coffee is the kind of coffee maker that can make tea.

"Lipton will be doing the bulk of the advertising. The campaign will start in February with network television commercials. We're going into a print campaign together with them. And they're selling a can of bulk tea, their filter blend, with a picture of Mr. Coffee on the side," said Marotta.

Bing Crosby Open Confusing Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — This is the confused Crosby. It started back in the dark days of the Great Depression, the Bing Crosby National ProAm, as a social event in Los Angeles and a way for the touring pros to pick up a wintertime check. It's changed locations and grown

Bill Riley, Washington Upset Sabres

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer
The Washington Capitals may see that Bill Riley never eats a meal.

Riley, a 26-year-old right winger, signed a pro contract Wednesday after a 10-game trial with the Caps. Then, he celebrated by picking up two key assists, helping Washington upset the Buffalo Sabres 4-2.

In signing, Riley became one of the few blacks ever to play in the National Hockey League. He began the season with the Dayton Gems of the International Hockey League and joined the Capitals on Dec. 30, but did not sign a contract since NHL rules allow a player to participate in 10 games before signing.

"I didn't get to Buffalo until late in the afternoon," said Riley, a native of Amherst, Nova Scotia. "I didn't get a chance to eat anything before the game. I've been so nervous the last five games wondering whether I'd be signed that I couldn't sleep before or after the games. I feel a lot better tonight."

The victory was the first for the Capitals over Buffalo in their history. The Sabres had won 12 and tied one in the previous 13 games between the teams.

In the process, Washington made certain this would be the best season in the team's threeyear history. The victory gave the Caps a record of 13-27-7 and 33 points — two more victories and one more point that it achieved last season and five more victories than it produced in its first season.

In other NHL games, Cleveland and the New York Rangers skated to a 3-3 tie, St. Louis defeated Chicago 5-3 and Pittsburgh blanked Vancouver 3-0.

River Walkers Ignore Ice Warnings

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The bullhorns blared warnings as a young mother led her three children onto the frozen Ohio River to join at least a dozen others who dared the ice to support them, but the advice was ignored.

"We've told them there's no way they can be rescued if it breaks," a Jefferson County police officer said Tuesday, "but they just won't listen." People strolled leisurely on the ice, some stopping at midstream to examine their footing before continuing to the Indiana shoreline, but some children ran across without interruption.

It was the first time since 1948, when river ice was reported 12 inches thick here, that it has been possible to walk across a frozen Ohio River.

"Our helicopter couldn't take off today," the police officer said, "so if the ice breaks, there's nothing we can do."

The river was reported freezing back-to-bank between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Cape Girardeau, Mo., but the main channel in the middle of the river has been broken open by tows, pushing barges through the ice.

"If you look real close you can see fissures where the ice has been broken, then froze back together," said Chuck Schumann, a spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers.

Kalamazoo Defeats Flint Generals, 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kalamazoo's Fern LeBlanc scored two goals and assisted on three others to lead the Wings to a 5-4 victory over Flint in International Hockey League action Wednesday.

In the only other IHL game Wednesday, Dayton dumped Columbus, 7-4.

Willie Mays hit .307 in 24 All-Star games. Three of his 23 hits were home runs.

into one of golf's great extravaganzas, one of the premier tournaments in the game. It draws the best players in the world and the biggest field of celebrities and is played before one of television's largest audiences.

But it's still very much a social thing. There are as many celebrity-watchers as golf fans in the gallery. The old timers still call it "Bing's Clambake."

The social whirl that surrounds the tournament, with its lines of hospitality rooms and scores of open-house condominiums and hotel suites, always has made it a confused weekend.

But this one, which got underway today on three courses — and not the usual three — at the Monterey Peninsula, is the most confused of them all.

First, there are the scores of Secret Service agents scurrying around, setting up their restrictions and precautions and procedures for the arrival of President Ford. He's due to come in Friday as an ex-President to play as the 18-handicap partner of Arnold Palmer.

Then, too, there's a couple of girls playing. That's a first for this tournament. One of them is University of Tulsa coed Nancy Lopez, probably the best female amateur in the country.

And there's the fact that it's entirely possible that no one will know who's leading the tournament until after Saturday's third round.

The courses add to the confusion. The 168 teams of a pro and an amateur will play one round each over Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and the Shore course at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

Spyglass Hill, usually in the rotation, is being rebuilt due to damage from the Northern California drought. The Shore course substitutes. It's a par 71. The others are par 72.

So Jack Nicklaus shoots 68 at Pebble Beach and Johnny Miller shoots 67 at the Shore course. Each is four under par. Are they tied? Or does Miller lead?

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): An excellent day for making new contacts, putting unique ideas into action. Influences also favorable for romance and travel.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't mix pleasure with business and don't try to force issues. For the present, it will be better to let things take their course.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Don't listen to what others say when you have reason to believe that the source is questionable. Stress your good judgment and objectivity.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): In both job and financial matters, use only time-tested procedures. Don't attempt anything risky now. And DON'T try for the unreasonable.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A relatively easy day — once you get the gist of trends and go ahead at a steady pace. Personal relationships highly congenial.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stress quality rather than quantity in your efforts. Get TODAY'S matters out of the way before seeking further. You are adept at squeezing out the best in a project — important now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You have instinctive know-how in many areas, but may tend to get off the track now, go off unwise on tangents. Be alert — and avoid.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Brace yourself for some opposition. Prepared, you can cope with it more easily, even outwit it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Financial matters now have an element of risk, so make your moves slowly and deliberately. Personal relationships however, promise to be exceptionally congenial.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may have to revise some views, revamp a pre-planned program if you are to attain the goals you desire. But do this efficiently and good results are certain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Watch and wait before you engage in new undertakings, but do not hesitate where real advantages are obvious. A somewhat mild day, but tricky in spots.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Personal relations accentuated now. In fact, a comparatively new acquaintance could be responsible for a complete — and better — change in your outlook.

YOU BORN TODAY, in the first decan of Aquarius in the Air Triplet, are an unusually versatile individual, outgoing in personality and extremely industrious. You are an excellent judge of character and, while preferring to associate with those who are highly intelligent, get along with persons in all walks of life. You tend toward impulsiveness but many of your undertakings, carried out seemingly without any thought or pre-planning whatsoever, turn out amazingly successful. You are unusually creative and could carve an outstanding career in writing, painting or interior decorating. Medicine and research also interest you. Traits to curb: procrastination and excessive volubility.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cecil the Seaside Sea Serpent. Harry Owens and His Royal Hawaiians. Sheriff John. Dick "Old Leatherbritches" Lane. Space Patrol. Korla Pandit. Gorgeous George. Hopalong Cassidy.

Just names? Hardly. They're 100-proof local history, part of the vast sonata of entertainment available in the golden, gonzo era of Los Angeles television in the late 1940s and the 1950s.

Said a began Jan. 22, 1947, when the West's first commercial TV station — KTLA, Channel 5 — cranked up. Bob Hope emceed the event, seen live in grainy black and white on perhaps 300 sets here.

Saturday night, KTLA cranks again with a taped 30th anniversary look back at that live, lively, often screwball pioneer era in what now is the nation's second largest TV market, with more than 3.8 million homes equipped with the magic nightlight that talks.

Art Linkletter is hosting the two-hour nostalgia blast put together by Arnold Shapiro, a free-lance producer who grew up here in those glory days when even a test pattern caused excitement.

"The theme is fun, nostalgia, warmth and humor," said Shapiro, 35, adding that he had no end of trouble tracking down old kinescopes and tapes of back-then television in Los Angeles.

"We didn't get them from the stations, that's for sure," he laughed. "They kept nothing. We got some from the local Television Academy, the rest from the stars or from people they knew."

He said the wares used on the show feature not only back-then stars of KTLA, but also of six other stations here. Some stars became biggies, like Johnny Carson. He was paid $50 a week by CBS-owned KNXT in the 1950s to produce and star in "Carson's Cellar," a Sunday variety show.

Others faded from local TV, like Korla Pandit. He drove the ladies wild with his dark, brooding eyes. Shapiro says Pandit never spoke word one in 900 shows, some kind of record for TV.

The producer, who tracked down more than 30 local stars of yesterday for Saturday's show, says he despaired of ever finding Pandit until a KTLA film editor said he had tickets for a concert.

It was a Korla Pandit concert, of all things, in suburban El Segundo, of all places. The musician was booked for the show.

"It's the hardest show I've ever produced, but I'm happy with it," the producer said. "We did it sort of like a live show, by the way. It's on tape, but we did it non-stop. So it's got little mistakes in it, just like the '50s."

Stepien Goes After Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Advertising executive Ted Stepien says he is still trying to put together a group with a $5 million package to buy control of the Cleveland Indians and has several people interested.

Stepien, owner and president of Nationwide Advertising Services Inc., here said Wednesday he already has "a quarter of a million dollars in the club, and I'm willing to put up half a million more if I can get the others."

Ernie Banks Lover Of National Pastime

NEW YORK (AP) — To Ernie Banks, the newest inductee in the Hall of Fame, playing baseball was like waking up every day to a pile of toys underneath a Christmas tree.

It was sunshine, hot dogs, old family friends, dedication, loyalty, a 20th century Camelot. You ought to pay the club owner for letting you play.

"The whole theory of my life is sunshine," the 45-year-old former Chicago Cubs' infielder said after receiving baseball's highest honor. "My total philosophy is to keep a smile on my face and kindness in my heart."

"Happiness is wherever you are."

Banks, son of a poor Texas grocery clerk, is an almost unbelievable anachronism in this age of strikes, lockouts, agents with black satchels, law suits and multi-million-dollar contracts.

Asked if, in his 19 years with the Cubs, he had been offered a chance to go to another club at double the salary, would he take it, Banks responded: "No, I wouldn't."

Citing his long and warm relationship with Philip K. Wrigley, the chewing gum magnate and owner of the Cubs, Banks added: "I don't think all the money in the world could replace that association."

"A man just can't say, 'I'm for me.' If he can't work it out with one club, he probably can't work it out with another."

Banks, slim, clean-cut and dapper in a business suit, dazzled Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, other baseball executives and the press with his boyish enthusiasm, lightning quick recall and articulation for more than an hour.

"It's amazing," said Kuhn. "You could sit and listen to him for hours."

Answering staccato questions with spontaneity and warmth, he paid tribute to all who had assisted him in his career — Buck O'Neill of the old Negro leagues,

Mock And Allen Top OAC Players

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Northern's Doug Mock and Napoleon Allen of Capital have been named the Ohio Athletic Conference Players of the Week.

Mock, a 6-foot-6 junior, hit 10 of 12 field goal attempts and added seven of eight free throw tries for 27 points to help vault Ohio Northern past Kenyon into first place in the OAC Northern Division with a 79-71 victory.

Allen, a 6-5 sophomore, led Capital to a 66-53 triumph over Dennison, ending a three-game losing string. He came up with 14 points and 11 rebounds, hitting five baskets in the first three minutes to get the Crusaders on their way.

Both Billy Newton of Morgan State and Kent Andrews of McNeese State set basketball free throw percentage records last season. Each dropped 85 shots in 90 attempts.

teammate Gene Baker, Monte Irwin, Lou Boudreau, Charlie Grimm, Bob Feller, Jackie Robinson, Ralph Kiner and others.

He said he appreciated the privilege of being with a team which played all of its games in daylight.

"When I was 15, I remember seeing my dad go to work while it was dark and come back while it was still dark," he recalled, "and I said I wanted a daytime job. So I landed with the Cubs."

He appreciated the time that, as a raw kid in the Negro League, Jackie Robinson gave him a chance to tour with an all-star team.

"Keep at it, kid, some day you will be in the majors," Jackie told him.

"I had no idea it would come true," Banks added.

Called "Mr. Sunshine" because of his blithe spirit, the former Cub shortstop was asked if he ever got angry on the field.

"Once Jack Sanford of the Giants hit me in the back twice. You might say I got excited."

Accidents Injure Seven

Seven people were hurt in four traffic accidents investigated Wednesday by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Four people suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident 8:10 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Route 62 and London Road.

According to the report of Deputy Jim Dixon, cars driven by Orville L. Bogenrife, 48, 282 N. Market St., Mt. Sterling, and Marilyn J. Gottier, 36, Route 2, Orient, collided at the intersection.

Bogenrife was driving north on Route 62 and Ms. Gottier was driving east on the London Road.

She apparently stopped at the stop sign, but pulled into the path of the Bogenrife car when her vision was impaired by high snowbanks at the intersection.

Bogenrife suffered a contusion to the left side of his forehead and eye, and a sprained left wrist. A passenger in his car, Nancy A. Bogenrife, 20, suffered a contusion to her right knee.

Ms. Gottier suffered a bump on her head, a sprained left hand, and a contusion to her right leg. A passenger, Stacie J. Gottier, 5, suffered a bump on her head and a sprained finger.

The four injured people were referred to their family doctors by Deputy Dixon for treatment of their injuries.

Deputies probed a two-car accident 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Route 62 and Route 762.

According to the report, cars driven by Rodger Smith, 25, Grove City, and Timothy L. Knisley, 18, 19876 Hall Road, Mt. Sterling, collided on the slippery road.

Smith complained of a contusion to his right leg and was referred to a doctor for treatment.

Clyde A. Johnson, 71, Route 2, Ashville, suffered a minor injury when his pick-up truck skidded off the ice-covered Mattville Road and crashed into a utility pole.

Johnson was referred to a doctor for treatment of a stomach injury by Deputy Dixon.

The accident occurred 6:15 a.m. Wednesday on the Mattville Road, a quarter of a mile south of Route 762.

Deputy William Carmean charged Glenn H. Butcher, 34, Route 4, Chillicothe, with failing to yield the right of way from a stop sign following his investigation of a three-vehicle accident 1:45 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Route 159 and Route 361.

Butcher, who complained of a sprained left knee, was referred to a doctor for treatment of the injury.

Other vehicles involved in the crash were a Litters Fuel and Heating Company truck driven by Roger L. Throckmorton, 33, Chillicothe, and a pick-up truck driven by Glenn Storts, 51, Route 5.

According to the report, Throckmorton's southbound truck on Route 159 was struck by Butcher's car, which was eastbound on Route 361 and skidded through the stop sign because of the icy road surface.

Throckmorton attempted to swerve his truck to the left, but struck the Butcher car and continued into a telephone pole and farm fence owned by Blanche F. Long, Kingston.

Impact forced Butcher's car to collide with Storts' pick-up truck which was driving north on Route 159.

Jail Records Being Sought

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of the Advocate, an afternoon newspaper, filed a lawsuit Wednesday in Licking County Common Pleas Court to open jail logs to the public.

The newspaper contends that it has been denied access to jail records when juveniles have been imprisoned for more than 24 hours because of an order by Juvenile Court Judge Virginia Weiss.

Mayor Richard Baker, Safety Director Ray Starr and Arthur Nutter Jr., police chief, were named as defendants.

The suit asks that all jail records be public, including the records of juveniles.

William B. Rogers, Advocate editor, said he has tried to obtain an out-of-court settlement of the issue since March 1975 with Judge Weiss.

In February 1976, the Ohio Supreme Court adopted 7-0 a new, broad definition of public records and ordered the Dayton police department to open its jail log to the public.

No hearing date has been set before Judge Winston C. Allen.

Judges To Select 1977 Junior Miss

MT. VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Judges will select Ohio's 1977 Junior Miss Saturday night from among 28 high school seniors competing in the 16th annual Junior Miss scholarship program.

Representing 27 counties, the contestants will be judged on poise and appearance, school grades, physical fitness, talent and interviews.

The winner will receive a college scholarship and the right to represent Ohio this spring in the National Junior Miss Scholarship Program in Mobile, Ala.

Pre-Sentence Report Ordered On Illegal ADC Payment Charge

A pre-sentence report was ordered for Geraldine Compton, 6152 Orchard Drive, Groveport, who was charged with illegally obtaining Aid to Dependent Children payments.

Her guilty plea was accepted Wednesday by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Ms. Compton was charged with grand theft after obtaining $850 in illegal ADC payments Oct. 1, 1975.

Judge Ammer sentenced 22-year-old Jerry Lynn Lewis, Columbus, to concurrent terms in the Mansfield Reformatory.

Lewis, who pled not guilty to charges of breaking and entering, vandalism, and two counts of petty theft, was found guilty by a jury Jan. 6.

He was sentenced to terms of from six months to five years on two of the counts, and terms of six months on the two others.

Lewis and three other men were charged with the Sept. 22 break-in of the Sperry-New Holland Company, damage to the building and some machinery, and theft of money and personal property.

Judge Ammer reported that Lewis had entered guilty pleas in Franklin County court previously to charges of receiving stolen property. He is scheduled to be sentenced on that charge.

Douglas D. Johnston, Chillicothe, pled guilty to a charge of violation of probation, and was continued on probation by Judge Ammer.

Johnston was ordered to pay court costs by monthly payments, and to keep the court advised of his address at all times.

He pled guilty to a charge of aggravated menacing Jan. 9, 1975, and was placed on probation for 18 months.

He was found in violation of probation by absconding and failing to pay court costs.

The original charge was levied Oct. 30, 1974, and stemmed from physical harm he caused to Wanda Johnston.

The State of Ohio was represented at the hearings by Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney James Kingsley.

Pickaway Soil Inventory Report Is Available

A soil inventory report for Pickaway County has been published and is available to the public, Ohio Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater announced today.

Entitled "An Inventory of Ohio Soils, Pickaway County, Progress Report No. 49," the publication is the most recent in a series of Ohio county soil reports prepared by the Division of Lands and Soil of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR).

The report is a compilation of information obtained during the soil survey of Pickaway County conducted through the cooperation of federal, state and local agencies.

In addition to descriptions and facts about the many different soils in Pickaway County, the report contains several interpretive tables with information about major crop yields according to type of soil, selected land uses and soil features important for engineering uses.

The report also contains a small scale color map showing the major soil areas of Pickaway County, including a description of each area. More detailed soil maps of the county are available on request.

The information in the report will be of value to farmers, engineers, contractors, homebuilders, realtors and others, according to Richard B. Jones, Chief of the Division of Lands and Soil.

Single copies of the publication can be obtained without charge at the Pickaway County Cooperative Extension Service, 137 West Franklin St., Circleville, 43113, and the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District, Agriculture Service Center, 1450 North Court St., Post Office Box 359, Circleville, 43113.

The report is also available from the Division of Lands and Soil, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, 43224.

We can help wrap up those holiday bills!

We can help wrap up your holiday bills and other expenses quickly and easily with a bill consolidation loan.

Instead of trying to stretch your dollars to cover holiday expenses, department store charges, car payments, medical expenses, and other bills, you'll pay them all off at once! Your bills will be combined so you'll make just one, smaller payment each month.

Your bill consolidation loan will be at bank interest rates (see chart below), which are likely to be lower than the finance charges on most bills you now have. The one smaller monthly payment will also save you the time, trouble, and expense of making payments at different places.

To start your loan application, stop by any of our offices. We want to help you more.
